Pat

My typewriter is in the shop & I feel lost without it.

Above is a new query that I'm sending out.

Enclosed ~~are~~ 2 FGS on Martin - All I have a moment - I was sitting on some of this & haven't worked it. I could cut off mail & stay busy for a couple of years processing what I have here on all my lines -

I can't remember the name of that lady but if she was in Nacogdoches Tx here is her mother's address - I think they work together -

Mrs J. F. Reeves (Emma)

Nacogdoches, Tx 79561

Thanks & best regards

Funeral of Fred K. Martin

Funeral services for Fred Martin, who died Saturday night at his home in Hammond, La., took place Monday at 12:30 o'clock at the Vancleave Methodist Church with Rev. H. W. VanHook conducting the services. Interment was made in the Vancleave cemetary.

Mr. Martin was the son of the late W. M. Martin. He leaves to mourn his loss his wife, one daughter, and four sons, besides five sisters and eight brothers. The sympathy of the entire community goes out to the bereaved ones.

The above notice came from our Vancleave correspondent. Deceased was the son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Watts of this city. Mr. Martin was an employe of the Illinois Central Railroad at Hammond, La. His death was sudden, and appeared to have caused by heart trouble.

The education of a genealogist is so varied. Using the instincts of a detective is probably the best way to describe the reason some researchers are more successful than others. Else's family was always working on family records and family history, when as a child she was influenced by the amazing records kept by her parents and ancestors of Denmark. Diligently recording every birth, death, marriage as well as details of military service, the desire to record details became a natural asset.

The love of collecting family histories as well as Mississippi and particularly Gulf Coast historical records, led to the job as Genealogy and Local History Librarian of the Pascagoula Public Library, the main branch of the Jackson-George Regional Library System. During the 10 years in that job, she attended many workshops but the real knowledge of her research job came from the daily challenge of answering the amazing questions posed to her by the four to five hundred monthly patrons who used the library in their quest for answers. She tried desperately to never let a patron leave without some kind of answer. If the library did not have the information needed, then she pointed them hopefully, toward the place where they could phone, visit or write for additional help. Her policy was to never say "We don't have that," or "I don't know," but to share all the resources available with those seeking answers. Resources continued to grow in the Pascagoula Library while she was there, especially in the Mississippi, Alabama, Louisiana and Gulf Coast Collections, creating one of the best genealogical research libraries in the southeast.

Else is a past President of the Jackson County Genealogical Society served on the Board of the Jackson County Historical Society, past President of the Federation of Mississippi Historical Societies, and is currently the President and founder of the Granly Danish Historical Foundation, Inc., a non-profit group dedicated to the heritage and preservation of the five acres of Granly property still remaining. The meeting house, built in the 1930's, is now restored. The five acre property is now the Granly Danish-American Memorial Park. The organization formed of 100 plus descendants nationwide; now enjoy the building and property with an annual Christmas celebration and a work-campout week in June.

John and Else are proud parents of three sons and one daughter. The oldest Brian Martin, a graduate of Princeton and USM, is in Washington, D. C. working as Policy Director for Mississippi's 4th District U. S. Congressman, Gene Taylor. Kevin Martin, a graduate of Millsaps with an MBA from USM, is a Cost Analyst with Northrup-Grumman Ship Systems and lives in Pascagoula. Larry Martin, living in Bay St. Louis, is a graduate of MSU, with a 2nd degree from Tulane and is employed with Isle of Capri a Data Programmer. Their daughter Laurie of Summerville, SC, is employed with H & R Block and is pursuing an accounting degree. She is married to Rolf Hennig; a meteorologist stationed six months out of the year in Antarctica.

The Martin's proudly enjoy the youthful challenge of spending valued time with their eight grandchildren and three great grandchildren as often as possible.

sounding cemetery. I had no way of knowing, however, if after three hundred years, the stone was still legible, or if indeed the cemetery was still in existence. My latter fears were calmed when, in my hotel room, I noticed a small brochure listing Dundee's main attractions. There among them was the Howff. It was, however, past 10 o'clock in the evening, and I had to wait an anxious ten hours before setting out to explore the city.

The "Howff" was in face a magnificent old cemetery, containing many 19th and 18th century gravestones, but also some far more ancient ones dating to the latter 16th and 17th centuries. The land had once been part of a monastery garden, but had been seized at the time of the Reformation. Mary, Queen of Scots finally ended up making the seizure official, by agreeing that the city could use the land for a graveyard. Some enterprising 19th century stone-carver had gone through the cemetery and carved small numbers in the corner of the early gravestones, this apparently to facilitate guided tours. In spite of this, the stones were remarkably well-preserved. I searched for nearly two hours for Abraham and Sarah, but could find nothing.

Luckily, the city library was close by. There, I found that as early as 1892, Abraham and Sarah's stone was no longer to be found in the cemetery. Someone had apparently carted it off, all 3x6 feet of it. A mound of cement, 2x6 feet long, had replaced the missing stone. Like its neighbors, it, too, bore a number: 34.

The missing stone could well prove to be the key to the enigma of Abraham MARTIN's origins. Its inscription was as follows:

> Here lies ane godly and virtuous woman, Sarah AUCHINLECK, spouse to Abraham MARTINE, Frenchman, chirurgeon barber; who departed this life 25, July 1665. Of her age 40. Here also lies ane honest man, Abraham MARTINE, Frenchman, chirurgeon barber, lawful son of Abraham MARTIN, merchant, burgess of the city of Metz in Loraine (sic); who departed this life 13, June 1673. Of his age 57.

France had had a military presence in Scotland for quite some time before James VI of Scotland acceded to the English throne. James' mother, Mary, had been married to the ill-fated Dauphin François, son of Henri II of France. She had been Queen of France until her adolescent husband died. Mary's mother had been a member of the House of Lorraine, a family intimately connected to the French court. While French troops were withdrawn from Scotland late in Mary's reign, the French economic presence can reasonably be presumed to have continued. Now Abraham MARTIN enters upon the stage.

The Canadian Abraham MARTIN becomes the father of a baby girl, Anne, in 1614. The Abraham MARTIN of Dundee fame is born in 1615/16. Eustache MARTIN, Abraham's Canadian-born son, sees the light of day in 1621. Since the baptismal act of 1621 is the first in which we see the name of Abraham MARTIN, it has been generally supposed that the elder MARTIN arrived in New France with his wife and daughter a short time previous to the birth of his son.

of great importance to me. In other words, on that date, and in that state, I first beheld the world, in fact was bornd.

My Mother and Father, Mr and Mrs CHas B. Martin, Moved from Byou LaBatre Ala, to Texas in 1875, For what reason I never could understand, from what I have heard of Texas.

I understand from hear say that they moved back to God's country, in the year of 1880, My earlest recolection, is of a big old black Mamy nurce, backed up by June bugs, a big high water; and of being very sick from eating too much fresh Pork, I forgot to mention that thi s was at a place called Demoples.

The family next hiked over to Meridian Miss. Of which I have very little recolection, except of an old blind man, who recained chairs , and a little excursion of my own out in the big wide world, which caused my Father and Mother a great deal anxiety, but lots of fun for me, Then another hike over to Gadsen Ala. We wear there doing two big fires, one at night, the other one on the 4th of July, Both of which was one big show to me, and to my Sister, who I forgot to mention, was lucky or un lucky enough to have been bornd in Texas too. While at Gadsen, I had the unmentionable pleasure of cutting off one of my Sis'ters big toes, they some how managed to stick it back so she is none the worse for that.

Then we scampered over to Rome Ga. where I spent 9 years, playing truent from school, stumping my toe nails off. learning to swim, and making several orchard and water melon men miserable. And my folks trying to make a good boy out of me, and loosen my hide at the same time, so I would grow to the great big man they hoped that I would, their hopes, I hope has been realised. While at Rome I witnessed a murder, and to keep from being made a witness, I beged my folks to send me to Florida, where my Mother had a Brother. They did so, to my great joy, and their great relief, I spent 14 evenful monthes there. They had fried turtle for supper the night that I got to my Uncles. I dident leave my apetite in Rome, so I waded in to that turtle like a house a fire. That night I asked more questions about turtles than a Philedephia lawyer could answer, they told me how to track them, by the smothe trail they left in the sand, and lots of other things that is not in a trappers g guide book. The next morning they showed me what they said was a turtle track, it was a smothe trail in the sand alright. Well I lit out on that trail, like a booze fighter after booze, I startwd in on the run, which dident last long in the deep sand they have there,(I hadent learned yet how to spread my feet out)round and around amomge the orange trees went the trail, untill at last away down at the edge of the swamp I found it, it was a shovel aleaning up against the fence. My but wasent I mad and wasemt my Cousins glad, they couldent fool me any more though for on the way back I struck another trail, of a genuine turtle this time, and had the good luck to run up on him, acidentaly on my part, for I had vowed to never go on the war path again, I found this difference in the two trails, the one made by the shovel dident have any foot prints. I had my revenge though, my Uncle made the boys go down and get the shovel and bring it back, as I had left it there,

While in Florida I learned to plow, and to this day I have the signs of the blisters yet in my hands, caused from the hoe handle, we had 60 acres in one grove, and 40 in another, which dont look so big on paper, but OH BOY' just have to work every tree in the two groves, out by hand, I know I worked out a trail, from here to Europe, 8t wasent all work though, we had hunting and fishing trips, they do [illegible] there, like you would here, they cut a buggie tire intoo sling a sack over their back, and with a piece of the tire about two feet long they start to wading around and around in some pond, pretty soon the water begins to get muddy, then the fish begin to come to the top, you see them [illegible] the water, then you strike them with the iron, I ave struck some mighty fine ones in that way, Every sweet has its bitter ome times a big Alegator or a big snake, comes along instead of the fish, ou soon get usto that, then there is the Oposam, and Coon hunting, and abbits, well believe me there usto be some there, They have a novel way f hunting rabbits at night, they saw the ends off of a lot of fallen rees then they paint the ends of the logs black, and on moonlight nights hey take the dogs and begin the drive, when the rabbits get hatd pressed hey make a be line for some log, with a hollow, see one that is painted, nd bang, right in to it they go, then all that you have to do is to go nd pick him up for he has knocked his own brians out. Snakes are pretty plentyfull too, One sunday after noon, we had some visetors out from icanoppy, we were all out on the front porch eating water mellon, OH they grow some big ones down there. when all at once we heard an awfull fuss t in the stable. I was sent out to envestogate the unuasal racket. I astened out, and found old Pete the mule was the cause of it, that is e noisy part of it, I found that he had kicked off about half of the oards from the back of the stable, and was still kicking for dear life.

The boards of the stable were not edged, and when they were put up the small edge was put up, which made a vey shaped edge, or joint, some how the snake in crawing around on the plate, had sliped off, and his head got caught in the joint, and in trying to free himself, he was switching his tail about, and I gues old Pete (who was a kicker anaway) thought he was being imposed on so he lit in, and every time the snake hit him he would kick some more. An other time my Uncle told me to go down to the Lake edge and plow up some ground to plant Tomatoes in. So I took old pete, I hadent plowed 10 feet when up came a big old blunt tail. I went up to, just as high on the plow as I could. and before I could get back on the ground again, up came another one, old Pete dident like snake any more than I did, so while I was up in the air, he found that he had business at the house, and not asking if I wanted to go along too,, he lit out. I must have made flying machine time out of there, I dont know how I did get out so I am not going to try to tell you. Anaway old Pete wasent so far ahead of me when he got to the stable, I told Uncle LeRoy what I had found down there, hethought that I just dident want to down there by my self, but he said that he would go down and plow it him self. and for me and old Pete to finish what he was doing. I would have liked to have followed him, to see the fun if I had dared too. for I knew that the mare Fanny, was worse than old Pete. Pretty soon I heard him squal at Fanny. then I heard the chains begin to rattle, and here come Fanny, and Uncle L LeRoy, at 2 nothing.Did we ever get it plowed? sure; that evening after the Boys had come from school we armed our selves with hoes, and I am a fraid to tell you how many we did kill, we counted up to 125 and quit, Quit counting them I mean. I have always been afraid to drink since I have grown up, for fear I would see them again. I fogot to mentoin that on my way to Flordia, I saw my first sailing ship, and salt water crab, wonderfull things to me.

While I was in Flordia the folks moved to Selma, Ala. I joined them there when I came home. Father was supt the fininhing up of the Hotel Albert, I worked there untill the folks decided to move down to Point Clear Ala. We moved there in Sept, 1892. My Fathers health failing, I had to keep the family going, which I did by fishing, untill I got a job as cook on the Schooner Lottie, in 1893, Gee" but I was in the seventh heaven when I got on the Schooner. On Oct the 3rd, 1893, I was in the big storm, we were anchored in Pascagoula River when the storm commenced, when it was over we were high and dry ashore, with 48 thousand feet of lumber aboard, and a vow that if we ever got ashore, we would stay there, but in a few days we had forgoten all about it, such is life. I worked on the Lottie untill 1897, When I went to work at Fort Morgan, worked there untill the winter of 1898, That winter I put in oysters and fishing. In 1894 I met a girl, who at that time was about 12 years old. I mention this as she is a part of my lifes history., she was the Neace of the Captain, of the Lottie. and I saw quite a bit of her, off and on, While at home from the Fort, one night at a singing she had a very pretty Rose on her bossom, I asked her for it, and for why I have never been able to find out, she refused to do so, now for some time I among athers, had been paying her quite abit of attention, and some how I had thought that I was favored a little more than the rest of them, and it was some jolt, to me when she refused to give the Rose to me, and being young and foolish I came near spoiling both of our lives. I hit the trail for the West, determined to forget her, after wandering an etearnity it seemed to me, I received a letter that my Mother was very low, so I came back home, The very first woman that I met was this Girl, I soon discovered that absence had only made my love grow stronger. and she seemed glad to see me. and I learned from her that my Mother was mutch better, before I left her i had her cosent to come to see her the next night, if my Mother was better, which I am proud to say she was. The next night we went down to the beach, and out on the wharf, The moon was just filling, and in the mellow rays of its soft spreading light, she looked the most beutifull woman in the world to me. I could hardly resist crushing her to me. and couldent resist pleading my cause. I told her of my love for her, of how I had tried to for get her, but that my love had only encreased ten fold. That all I asked was a chanch to prove my love, and to know that there was no other one in her heart. She promiced to wait for me, and said that she cared for me, and all ways had. but that I would have to give up going to sea. I had no trade, and every thing was dull, so I had to stick to the Sxhooner, as I was still supporting the family. Her Father in Feb in 1890 moved to Pascagoula, Miss. It was a great supprise to me, as I hadent had a chanch to see her for some time, . Having been off on a voyagee I hadent had any letters from her, When one morning i saw her standing on the wharf in Mobike. where we were tied up to receiving freight. I was over joyed to see her, but when she told me that they were on their way Pascagoula. my heart fell, for I knew that it would be harder for me to get to see her, than ever, as it was almost imposible for me to get off, to ggo to see her there. The months passed by like years to me, with no chanch of my getting off to go to see my darling, when one day I got a chanch to make a trip of lumber from Pascagoula to Mobile. it was in Sept. you see I had been Mate of the Schooner, each time I had been on her, since 94 which made it impossible for me to get off. Just before we sailed for Pascagoula who should come aboard, but her Brother, who was on his way home, and gladly made the trip with us, when we arrived at Pascagoula we had a fair wind right up the river, so did not stop there, but continued on up to Moss Point, where we were to load the lumber. That night her Bro and I went to his home, I dont know how glad she was to see me, but it was heaven to me. it took us two days to load, each night found me by her side we finished loading on a Sat morning, beat down the river against a heavey S.E. wind, and anchored just above the bridge, spent that evening with her it began to blow andr rain that night, which was the night that Galvestom was distroyed, I was with her again on Sunday evening, and night. that evening we watched the boats race, after which we went walking, and plited our love over again. Monday morning it was still blowing hard, and we waited untill noon to make a start. we left the bridge at 12 oclock and was tied up to the wharf in Mobile at 5 oclock that evening, that night the revenue cutter, the Wiyoming, left the wharf on her way to Galveston with supplies I wouldent have given 50¢ for her, that night, for she had to go out side where the sea was mountain high, we had just come in through the Pass, and there was the heaviest sea there that I have ever seen, you can judg how it was blowing when we made 62 miles, in a little less than 5 hours. just under the main sail and jib, but she made it some how, That night, (monday (

the water came to the top of the wharf in Mobile.

The next time that I saw her was in Nox, We were in the lumber trade to Dauphin Islabd, we reached Mobile on Friday morning, and found that there was some trouble between the mill men and the Govt over the grade of the lumber, and knowing that there was no likely hood of it being settled before the next monday, I decided that I would go down, and see my sweet heart, I arrived at Pascagoula about 6 oclock theat enening, my coming wasa a great supprise to her, as I had, ha no oppitunity to notify her of my coming, I found that she had an engageme to go to the Theatre that night, with a young man, I was awfully disopoint but dident blame her, as I had told her to go ahead and have a good time for I couldent be with her to show her any, she wanted to break the engagement, but I wouldent hear of it unless the young man was agreable to it, which I am proud to say he did, he was mighty nice about it, It is useless to tell you how I enjoyed the next two days, I found that I was loving her more than ever.

The next time that I saw her , wasin the following Jan, We was in Mobile waiting for a cargo, Her Father had moved to Orange Grove, 7 miles from Pascagoula, Friday again was my lucky day, I went down this time in the morning, and again supprised her, the time passed only too quick, I caught the monday morning train back to the City, arriving there I found that they had caught a load of coal to the shipping off Gulf Port, after which, they would come to Moss Point for a load of lumber, Gee but you can bet I was glad to hear that, it ment a few more days with her, I just had time to catch the next train back to Orange Grove, as I steped off the train at Orange Grove, I met her mother boarding it on her way to Pascagoula, they had received word that her mother was very sick at Pascagoula ,but treated me very nice, told me to go on to the house, and make my self at home; my Sweetheart though worried about her Grand Mother, was glad to see me back so soon, it sobbored our pleasure though, as I liked the old Ladye , and my sweet heart was her favorite grand child.

the next day, I thought I had better go to Pascagoula, in case the Schooner should get in a head of time, so I could board her there, My sweetheart d decided to go with me, to Pascagoula, and be with her Mother and Grand mother, I was over joyed, as it ment a few more hours of her company. 5hat was ouy first traveling together, even if it was only 7 miles, The Schooner had,had head wind's, and when she got to the Shipping, the sea was too high for them to un load, for two day's, so it was Friday morning when I saw her beating down the Sound, As she came into the mouth of the River I bade my Sweet heart Good bye, with a promice to see her again soon, She was to go back home that evening, When the Schooner passed the bridge I swung aboard of her, and we went on up to Moss Point.

That evening I went to the Livery stable, to try to get a horse, or a horse and buggie, and found that every thing on four,feet had been engaged for the night, except a very small Poney, I told him to trot him out, and let me look at him. My heart failed me, when out come a pony about as big as a good size goat, and me weighing 180lb's, I shook my head at the idea of him carring me, but the man said that he would risk it, Well' I will try most any thing once; So after the man had saddled the poney, I straddled him, mounting would be an exageration' And after inquiring the wayt to Moss Point, I set out, My derection was given, in some what of a circus clown's way. but by nigger luck, and a good bit of awkward"s on my part,(for I knew more about a main sheet, than a briddle) We arrived at Orange Grove, and in front of my Sweet heart's house, being some what ashamed of my steed, I let my feet to the ground, and let him walk out from under me, and tied him in a thicket of tree's. Now my Sweet heart, had a small Sister and Bro, and they wanted to know how I had got there, I told them that I had an elephant out there, thinking that they wouldent want to envestogate, but that only showed that I dident know, one fourth as much about children, as I do now, nothing would do but that we take a lamp, and go show it to them. it wouldent have been so bad, if, the older folk's, had staid back in the house, well when they all had colecded around the spot, where I had hid my fiety steed, they commenced on me, some said that he had broken away, as they couldent see any thing that looked like a horse, much less an elephant, finaly the old man, after adjusting his glasses, and peering around,declared that he had found some's watch charm, then one of the boys began to hollow scat, scat, and said that he was afraid that the cat's would catch it, well after some more chaffing, to humiliatiag to note, We went to the house, and my Sweet heart, feeling a pity for me, was extra kind to me, for the joy of which ,I would have gone through tougher thing's than that.

We sailed for Mobile the next day, On the 20 th of Feb, I had a letter from my Sweet heart, stating that her Grand mother, was dead, I was sorry that I couldent be with her, to console her, but we were back in the Dauphin Island trade again, and it was come and go, with us, as we had to pick our chanch to unload, when the wind was from off the land.

In the last part of March,we got a load of bricks,to go to Fort Gain's, we got to the Fort, in a heavy S. E. gale, the Schooner sprang a leak, and the brick's, took up the water as fast as it came in, and we had to beach her, to keep from sinking, We finaly after two day?s and night's, hard work, got her unloaded, by useing a number of fishing skiff's, to lighter the brick's ashore. We had sent word to Mobile, by a passing Schooner, for help, The owner's sent us a Tug, who pulled us off of the beach,and we came on to Mobile, under our sail's, My Sweet heart, had an Aunt: living in Mobile, who went to her Mother's funerel, and when she came home, she brought my Sweet heart back with her, She has been in Mobile about 10 day's, when we got in,

A young man who it seem's, had been trying to beat my time, had heard that we were shiped wrecked, and for the purpose of teasing, my Sweet heart, or other motives, He told her that we had been all lost, Right there he lost his trump card.

For she soon found out different, and when we got in, and I found that she was in Mobile, believe me, I lost no time in reporting to her Aunt's house, and to her, Well did you ever have a Girl, who you loved, beg you to do any thing, the doing of which' you were only too anxious to do, That was my fix, She begged me to quit the Schooner, and come ashore to work, she said that she had heard one of her Cusins , say, that the Street Car people, needed men, and begged me to go try for a job with them, which I did, and was excepted' and told to report the next day, for breaking in, I quit the Schooner that day, April the Tth, 1901, I secured board with my Sweet heart's Aunt"s.

Next day I reported, and was sent to the Frankling St line, to begin breaking in, in other word"s to learn how to stear, and sail a street car, About 11.30 a man fron the barn, met our car, and said for me to report to the barn, Gee" I thought I had been fired, but went down to the barn, determined to find for what cause, when we arrived at the barn, the inspector told me to relieve car # 7 on the Charlston St line, at 12 oclock, Then he went on assigning the other men, and I dident get to ask him any for any instructions who had a friendly face
as to , haow, when and what, to do but seeing a man standing near , I ventured to ask him , if he could tell me, where,when,and what to do, and I was over joyed to find that he was to be my relief partner, and he eggread to show me the rope"s, for which I was very greatfull. and I managed to not run over any people, or get the car aground, you know I was, what they called the" moter man" or in other word's, I was the man that steered the car, and keept her in the middle of the Chanel. That evening I made a couple of trips, on the Wilkenson St line, and three on the Govt St line, I believe to my soul, that I rode more on the car's that day, than I had in my whole life before, OH" I was having a bully time a riding, and the company was paying me for it, and I do honestly believe that if my Sweet heart hadent been in town, that they would have had some time in getting me off, of the car's to go get my supper, so I could make the night relief, for during the evening an inspector had boarded the car, and told me to relieve car #22 on Dauphin St, at 4.20, Now I had been up Dauphin, St, about as far as broad St, I made out very well, untill about 11 oclock, when we picked up a big crowd of people from the thetre, after we had passed Broad St the bell to stop would ring to stop, I would land the car as eaisy as I could, on such short notice, at the first street that I could find, I wouldent more than get started again before, bang , would go the bell again, and no street in sight, bang, and bang again, untill I'LL be doggoned if I knew if I had a fair or a head wind, but I noticed that every time I did stop I got a balling out from the passengers, for running by their stop's, you see the street's out there are just ever so once and awhile and they have stop boards, nailed to the tree's on the edge of the sid walk and not having any charts or compass to go by, I had missed lot's of the landing places, Next day I spotted all of the sign' and dident have any more trouble making my landing's after wards.

On the 22nd of April, my Swee~~t~~heart's Father wrote to her to come home, Now the company was short handed and they had turned me in, for a swing relief, the third day, and by this time I was 2nd to a regular run, and I had been figuring that when I did get my regular run, that we would get married, My Brother was now four year's older than I was when I had taken up the family burden, So I gave my folk's all of my cow's, and hog's, and a 36 foot Sloop, and two one hundred fathom net's, and fishing skiff's, which put him in pretty good shape to make hheir living. And the old man's calling her home, was about to knock my plan's sky high, that day one of the regular men died, of Pneumonia, which put me 1st up for a regular car, So as the saying goe's I took the Bull by the horn's, and talked to my sweet heart like a dutch Uncle, to get her to consent to us getting married at once, she of course demured, said that she didemt have any Truosoue, (what ever that is) I told her , neither did I, but mabe we could do with out it, and board, finaly she made me under stand that it was clothe's, she ment, I told her that all I had was the suit, or uniform of the Mobile Street Rail Way Co that I had on, and that I wasent marring clothes, for her, but to not let that stand in the way, as there was plenty of clothe's in the store's, Well I am proud to say that she loved me well enough, to listen to me and the next day, she got her Trousou, and that night we got married, the 22nd of April 1901,

That night I steped out on the porch, as had been my custom while at sea, when I would wake up, to see how the weather was, and while there the wind blew the blind's shut, and fastenrd me out; and my wife, found asleep in side, I finaly got her awake withuot waking up the neighbor's, and she let me in side. The next morning the caller, called me at [illegible].40 to take a regular run, my shhedule ran to 8.15 that night, We boarded about two week's, with my wife'$ Aunt, when the wife decided that she might as well learn to house keep, we rented a furnished room

Charles Martin

Once I knew a mighty sweet little girl.
And fnom old Point Clear she came.
She is dearer than all the world to me.
And Miss Tishia was her name.

At Battles,on the beach one night.
She promised what meant the world to me
She said she would be my darling wife.
When I would quit going to sea.

So along in April,Nineteen and one.
The twenty second,if I remmember right.
I gave up the sea,and all of my fun.
But I have never regreted that night.

She could walk under my arm.
You wouldent think she would be a help.
But she is worth a farm in old Tennesee.
For she has been the making of me.

Of children we have had nine.
Now I believe that is going some.
But a happier couple you"l hardly find.
And we welcome each as they come.

Just now she caught me writing this.
And she told me, well I gues you know it.
That this wasent even worth a kiss.
And I was an awful poor poet.

Dedicated to the truest little wife.
That ever wore out a pair of shoes.
She is my sunshine,and my life.
Thats why I never have the blues.

Her loving husband.

THE MOBILE REGISTER.

Aged Mobile Visitor Tells of First Train

Jesse Reeder, ninety-seven years old, a man who, in his boyhood days viewed with wonder the first locomotive to rumble through the pine lands of South Carolina, and a man who has seen the making of the republic, is in Mobile, a guest of his son, Jesse H. Reeder, residing on Palmetto street.

Mr .Reeder, while ninety-seven years old in July, 1909, is still hale and hearty, in full possession of his faculties, converses freely and gets about fairly well. The only infirmity the weight of years seems to have affected him with is a slight stiffness in his ankles. He has a splendid pair of eyes, reading ordinary print without glasses, and his skin is absolutely without a wrinkle. His hair, it is true, is white, but that is the only indication one sees that would point to old age. His voice has a ring, and his intellect is sharp. He is a minister of the denomination of the Latter Day Saints. He explains clearly the difference between the Latter Day Saints and the Mormons, whom he charges with polygamy. He says that the Latter Day Saints, are the true followers of the lowly Nazarene and that the revelation made to a seventeen-year-old boy back in the thirties was the fulfilment of the prophesies.

Speaks of Boyhood Days.

Speaking of his boyhood days Mr. Reedor said:

"When I was but a lad I saw the first locomotive which actually ran on rails and carried passengers. It was an engine and caboose which ran from Charleston to Hamburg, South Carolina, the company being chartered in 1827. I was then fourteen years old and with my father and mother was traveling from my native state, South Carolina, to Barbour county, Alabama. We heard the new train was coming through and we got up early in the morning and sat by our wagons until daybreak to see it. It came through spitting fire from the little smokestack and rustling and jangling over the light rails of the time. It was a wonderful sight to me, then a mere lad. I did not then know the wonders I should be spared to see. I did not know then that it would be but a few years when a message might be tapped off at one station and be received in a few seconds at another miles and miles away; I did not dream of the electric telegraph, of electric lights or the automobile, let alone the wireless system.

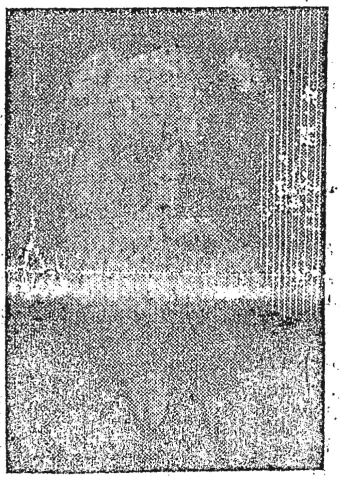
"I can remember many wonderful things during my boyhood days, among them the day when the stars fell from the heavens. I could not understand it, neither could those about me, and it seemed to some that the world was about to come to an end. The stars commenced to fall to the ground about 9 o'clock one night and it continued a veritable shower of fire until 11 o'clock the next morning. It was a marvelous thing to me and I shall never forget it.

Lived During Big Wars.

'I lived during four big wars in which this country was engaged, the war of 1812, the Mexican war, the Civil war and the Spanish American war. Of course I passed through several Indian wars or campaigns. The massacre of Fort Mims made a profound impression on me although I was still young. We had no telegraph then and the story of the terrible occurrences at the fort were carried from Stockton by word of mouth, and I remember how every man was ready to shoulder his musket and fight.

"I did not engage in any of the great wars this country had, neither did I ever fight a duel. The nearest I ever came to that was when I would strip off and go into a bout, fist and skull, to subdue some bully who claimed he was the worst man in the county and had to be shown that no matter how bad a man is that another better man has been created.

"The trip overland from South Carolina to Alabama was a most eventful period in my life. I was but a lad and the hardships and privations of the trip are something never to be forgotten. We had to keep a close lookout to keep the blazed trail and then again we had to keep our eyes open for the Indians, who were still troublesome in those days. I lived many years in Barbour and finally settled down in Baldwin county, near Seminole, where I now live.



JESSE REEDER, age 97 years.

Right Living, Long Life.

"During my time I have been a farmer, a timberman, and have preached the gospel. I am of the denomination of the Latter Day Saints, which must not be confused with the Mormons, for we do not believe in polygamy. The King James version of the Bible is full of polygamy, but the belief of the Latter Day Saints as revealed to a seventeen-year-old boy many years ago smacks nothing of that custom. It is simply the following of the original teaching as laid down by Jesus Christ.

"I am a strong man yet, although I will be 98 years old in July. I attribute my long life to right living and plenty of outdoor exercise. I have withstood many hardships but it has not hurt me because I have lived right."

Mr. Reeder has fifty-eight grandchildren, fifty-seven great-grandchildren and thre great-great-grandchildren to cheer him in his declining years. He seems to know them all by name and to take great pride in them. His youngest son, whom he is visiting in Mobile, is fifty-one years old.

When he was taken to a studio to have his photograph taken he seemed well pleased, but regretted that he did not open his mouth that his relatives in Baldwin county could see in The Register before he got back home that he had succeeded in getting a new set of false teeth to fit him.

GONE, BUT NOT FORGOTTEN

We loved you, yes, we loved you,

And with farewells unspoken
You calmly entered home.

Shubuta, Miss. Dec 21st, 1908.

Charles B.Martin, my father died at Shubuta. Miss. Feb 28th, 1910. Age 71 years, 1 month and 28 days.

I Charles T. Martin, his son, am now living at Pascagoula, Miss. Was born Aug 5th 1876. near Austin, Tex. I will be 42 next Aug. Married Litiatia Reeder April 22nd 1901, at Mobile, Ala. We have had 9 children, 6 are living, Nora Litiatia = Charles Barclay = George Edmund = Mary Amanda = William Hinkle = Mamie Drucila.

I am at present employed by the International Ship Building Co. as foreman of Ship # 5. The news in the paper to day, was that the German U boat had sunk 7 ships along the Atlantic coast, but that we had stopped the Germans in their big advance in France. I have lost quite a few of my men, have been drafted, they have all promiced to plug a German for me, if they get over there.

I heard a talk this evening, made by a Canadian Soldier, who was a prisener for 16 month, in a German Prison camp. He made 3 attemps before he finaly managed to get to Holland, and freedom, he told us of some thing that happened over there, which shows why the Germans cant whip the Allies, he said that he killed a German, who had on a brand new pair of shoes, and his shoes being pretty badly worn, and wet, he took them off of Frits, and put them on, when he got back to the trench, one of his comrads asked him where he had got them, he told him, his comrad said that he would like to have a pair like them, he says that he told him that he could get a pair like he had, about 12 oclock that night his comrad stold out into no mans land, and disapeared in the direction of Frits trench.

Two oclock came and he hadent returned, 2 30, and still he hadent shown up, amd they were just about to give him up as captured when they heard a noise at the barbed wire, the sentry hailed, and his comrad answered, with, its PeeWee, for Gods sake dont shoot, but give me a lift, they helped him into the trench, and found that he had 14 pairs of shoes hung around his neck, they asked him why he had so many paires, he replyed, that that becomes from having small feet, as he had, had to kill 15 Germans to find a pair that would fit him, and he showed them the 15th pair, a neat fit on his feet.

That is like a report of some thing that some of our soldiers did, They were told to go out and bring in 500 Germans, as a joke, but they took it in ernest though, and when they came back they had the 500, and some to spare, and I dont doubt but there is some foundation to the yarn.

I began to fasten down my main keelson, to day, it is 14"x 16", we are using $\overset{3}{1/8}$ iron, 72" long, that is some thing to drive, will begin to put up my forward cants tomorrow, if I had a piece of $5\,\overset{1}{/}2$ x $19\overset{1}{\underset{2}{\cancel{2}}}$ $\underset{=}{=}$ 28 feet long I could put up a few more frames aft, To day is the 4th of June, 1918.

1864 DEATH...
C. 1862-1866, ELIZABETH CARROLL and possibly TWO BABIES died. Family story is that death was caused by starvation and disease, resulting from the effects of the traumatic Civil War, especially disastrous on the north shore of Lake Pontchartrain.

William Martin (continued)

Supposed to be buried in the Covington City Cemetery, in Covington, St. Tammany Parish, LA.

1867 DEATH...
THOMAS
C. 1867, ~~WILLIAM ANDREW~~ MARTIN, father of WILLIAM MARTIN, JAMES MARTIN, and MARY JANE MARTIN, died and is supposed to be buried in the Covington City Cemetery, Covington, St. Tammany Parish, LA, next to ELIZABETH CARROLL MARTIN and TWO MARTIN BABIES.

NOTE: Search in 1986 and 1994 of the Covington City Cemetery and all possible Covington and St. Tammany Parish records provide us with no tombstones or written records of these four MARTIN burials. The Covington Public Works Director who is in charge of the Covington City Cemetery, has helped in this search of records. He believes they are buried in a plat surrounded by coping, which contains unmarked graves. Next to this plat is the tombstone and grave of one, "GEORGE MARTIN, died 1866". He has no record of this death or burial. He believes this could be our ~~WILLIAM~~ Thomas ~~ANDREW~~ MARTIN, and that the marker was placed there many years later. No explanation for the name of GEORGE, if that is so.

> "After reaching Ocean Springs I proceeded by private conveyance to my home on Bluff Creek, twelve miles distant, where I met a number of old friends and relatives to welcome me.
> According to previous arrangement, on Thursday evening, the 7th inst., I proceeded to the elegant home of MR. Else Nygaard Martin, 2004

Born in rural Jackson County, Mississippi, Else (pronounced Elsa) grew up in a farm family, relishing the days of dirt roads, bare feet, dresses made of feed sacks, open windows, five cent apples at the neighborhood general store, learning to read by lamplight, warming her behind by the fireplace and the comfort of a very loving family.

1936, the year of her arrival in South Mississippi was the time of a changing world, pre World War II, with a California born Danish father, Hans Nygaard, who had served his country in World War I, and Herdis Laursen Nygaard, mother, also Danish, born in West Denmark, Wisconsin. Both parents, actually Danish-American, were the children of immigrant parents who proudly struggled to Americanize their children yet retain the values of their upbringing in their beloved Denmark.

Lucky to be born and lucky to be born in Mississippi with such a stretched out ancestry, her parents met when both moved to the tiny Danish-American Colony named Granly in northeast Jackson County - only because of advertisements placed in immigrant newspapers all over the U. S. during the depression and dust bowl era. Cut over land, heralded as cheap farm land and labeled as the "Los Angeles of the South" was the reason twenty five or so Danish immigrant farming families migrated to Jackson County, Mississippi in the 1930's.

Educated in Hurley Consolidated School and Moss Point High School, graduating fifty one years ago, Else married a Moss Point high school sweetheart, John Martin in 1955. They have lived in Panama City, Florida, Starkville, Mississippi, while attending Mississippi State University, Slidell, Louisiana and back home to Jackson County in 1969. Working at many different jobs, she finally evolved into the career as a librarian. First, as a children's librarian until the door opened into the world of family and local history research at the Jackson-George Regional Library System. Helping people find people and discovering the history of their heritage came to her as a natural and stimulating career. In 2002 she regretfully retired from her Pascagoula Public Library job. "I could have stayed there until I died," she claimed, "if only my health had allowed that wonderful career to continue."

Moving on, she stays busy at home editing The Journal, an annual publication of the Jackson County Genealogical Society, working on family research for her family and others and conducting workshops when able. She is presently helping many reunion groups with invitations, booklets, memorabilia and photo collections, trying to finalize the editing and publication of the Cemeteries of Jackson County, Mississippi, as well as six of her own manuscripts:
Pascagoula, The Singing River of Abundant Life
Paper Trail, A History of North East Jackson County

ALONG THE COAST

A Trip Home via the Crescent City — Scenes Along the Route — The Old Homestead — Marriage Festival — A Visit to a Sick Brother — Home Again

litor, St. Tammany Farmer:

On the morning of the 5th inst., I stepped aboard the Ea ouisiana train in Covington, at 5:45. Mr. F. Ladner, the polite an ndsome conductor, sang out "all aboard!", the bell rang, th rottle was opened, and in a moment we were headed for th rescent City. At a quarter past nine, after a run of three hours an half, the train slowed down at the depot of the Northeaster ailroad Company. As I had to remain in the city about six hours t ke the coast train, which departs at 3:15 P.M., I utilized my idl me by visiting friends and some of the business portions of th eat Southern metropolis. While strolling through this busy city, et with several of my warmest friends, whom I had not had th easure of gazing upon for some time, the sight of whose geni ces served as a balm to the wounded heart, and with whom ssed several hours of exquisite pleasure. At 3:15 P.M., I boarde e L & N train, en route to Ocean Springs, Miss., a distance of 9 iles. As the road runs along the Gulf Coast, touching at all th atering places thereon, and the train making exceedingly fa me, I had an opportunity of taking in the situation at each place, a e whole trip was made in daylight.

There seems to be a spirit of improvement all along the line. A l the different towns can be seen, here and there going u ildings of all shapes and dimensions, from the cabin to th agnificent mansion. The beautiful scenery, the healthfulness c e country, and invigorating sea breezes with which these town e daily fanned, will ever make them a fashionable resort fo alth and pleasure seekers. After reaching Ocean Springs oceeded by private conveyance to my home on Bluff Creek velve miles distant, where I met a number of old friends an latives to welcome me. According to previous arrangement, o hursday evening, the 7th inst., I proceeded to the elegant home o r. William Martin, the most prominent merchant of Bluff Creek ho was once a resident of Covington, and in the presence of quit number of guests, I united in holy matrimony, Mr. N.C. Haven d Miss Belle, the beautiful and accomplished daughter of M lartin, after which refreshments were served, of which all prese eely partook.

The next morning, in company with Mr. S.G. Ramsey, rother-in-law, I visited at Scranton, Miss., a brother who lies in ery precarious condition, after which, with valise in hand an ear-bedewed eyes, I boarded the west-bound train for the cit rriving at 9 A.M., where I had a second pleasure of meetin riends, under whose roof I rested this weary body, and at who able I bountifully refreshed the inner man. At 3:00 P.M., I ba dieu to those sweet associations, and took my departure f Covington, and at half-past seven o'clock I am again seated before ousing fire in the Parsonage at the Camp Ground, enjoying t weet association of loved ones.

O'Neal, who passed away since the last camp meeting, was at her death the only person who was present in 1880, except perhaps some who were infants in arms. The last three before Mrs. O'Neal were John A. Flurry, Henry (Cap) Fletcher, and Mrs. Nettie Fletcher Cain; all these were there in October, 1880, and most of them had been at every camp meeting since. The sons of Cap Fletcher are among the most active in support of the camp ground, as well as the children and grandchildren of John A. Flurry, a son of Rev. John A. Flurry, one of the founders. A brother, Joseph W. Flurry, maintained a tent for many years. George W. Tootle, a son-in-law of David Dubose, and his sons have been on the camp ground every year. Other tenters include Jeff White and his family, W. Y. Cain and his family, the Broxton Wilson family, the J. V. Carter family, members of the Henry Davis family, the family of Rev. J. H. Havens, the John Graham family, sons of Judge H. C. Havens, and members of the younger generations who have maintained tents in recent years.

Of those who have been active supporters of the camp meeting, though not all tent-holders, have been the family of William Martin, patriarch of Vancleave, Griffin Carter, and other Carters, the John Westfall and Will Westfall family, the families of John Breland, Amaziah Breland, Warren Havens, Charles Ruble, George Ruble, Thomas Ruble, Robert Lyons, W. G. Groves, Edward David, Jesse Rice, John Fletcher, John Entrekin, Jehu Fletcher, Bizer Havens, Art Havens, John Havens, Louis Roberts, Dr. S. R. Ratliff, the Berrys from around Pine Grove, the Flurrys from around Pine Grove, James Lockard, the Edwards family, the Cates family, the John Jones family, Mrs. Emeline Ladner and her family, the Wilkerson families, other branches of the Flurry family and the Roberts family and the Havens family, the Taylor family, and many others, whose names are written in the Book of Life. The reader will keep in mind that this list is from memory and will bear patiently with any omissions. Anybody who can write a more complete history of New Prospect Camp Meeting may freely begin the task!

No history of New Prospect would be complete without suitable mention of Louis Havens, who lived in a cottage on the northwest corner of the camp ground and who kept for many years the public tent, built some time after 1900 on the east row of tents. He was a man of frail body but of dauntless spirit and gave himself unsparingly to the promotion of every good work. He was particularly concerned about the education of his children and moved from place to place for the advantages of education. His place on the camp ground was taken for many years by his daughter, Mrs. Jersusha Bonham, and since her passing by her children.

One recalls also the names of others who have gone on, including Wesley Cox, Kit Ware, John W. Roberts, Calvin Dees, Andy Ramsay, Norman Ramsay, Tollie Williams, Tom Clark, Bill White, Alfred White, Dan Carlisle, Lyman Holland, Charles Havens, Burrell Dubose, John Ramsay, Gene Davis, Leonard, Stewart, and Jim Broom, Morrison Roberts, Ruble Roberts, Mrs. Mary Roberts, Mrs. Winona Roberts, Mrs. Sophia Davis, Miss Dollie Roberts, Mrs. Saidie Steed, Joe Graham, Leo Holden, Thomas Roberts, Schley Byrd, Casa Wilson, Mrs. Nettie Carter, Tom Cochran, Quincy Roberts, J. V. Carter, Joe Ware, W. R. Havens, W. C. Havens, Everett Cain, Dalton Havens, Melvin Cain, Mr. and Mrs. Elisha Wilkerson, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wilkerson, Ed Holland, W. R.

BOOK CORNER.....BOOK CORNER.....BOOK CORNER.....BOOK CORNER.....BOOK

The Martin Family of Terrebonne and Lafourche Parish 1636-1986 (350 Years). Available from Dana James Martin, P. O. Box 4382, Houma, LA 70361. Hard cover, $40.00; soft cover $35.00 US, includes postage & handling. 8½x11, 218 pp. Robert MARTIN and Marguerite LANDRY were the progenitor couple of the MARTINS of Louisiana. Their great-great-grandson Joseph MARTIN married Marguerite PITRE, probably the daughter of Jean PITRE and Marguerite TERRIOT.

Joseph and Marguerite were the Louisiana ancestors of Dana Martin, the author of this work. He has gone to great lengths to add meat to the bones of his ancestors, including maps, replicas of marriage and baptismal documents, and a replica of the passenger list of the St. Jehan which brought his forebears to Acadia in 1636. Also included is a vignette on the early settlers of southeast Louisiana. The successions of Joseph MARTIN and Marguerite PITRE are also included. The work is professional-looking, and if I have any negative comments it would be first that the proofreader overlooked a few typos, and the only names indexed are the MARTINS albeit spouses are shown to help narrow down the possible identities.

Canadian Surname Index. by Whittier Area Genealogical Society. P. O. Box 4367, Whittier, CA 90607. 8½x11, 15 pp. $4. A listing of Canadian surnames of interest to members of the society, including area and date of interest. A sprinkling of Acadian names.

Les Ledets de la Louisiane." by E. J. Ledet, 293 Glenna Dr., San Angelo, TX 76901. 8½x11 Hardcover, 360 pp. $30.00 ppd within U.S. E. J. has published a compendium on LEDETS of Lafourche and Terrebonne parishes of south Louisiana. There is a short narrative on the origins of the name, the first three generations from the progenitor in Louisiana in the latter 1700's, as well as over 100 family groups of LEDET males and their families up to the 1900's. After 1900, only selected family groups are shown. There are 150 pages of records extracted from other sources and personal research, and an everyname index. So, if you have any mention of LEDET in your genealogical research, I recommend this work. The name of LEDET is not as prevalent as others in Louisiana, and you have just about everything that is known about the name all in one volume.

I feel honored to have had something to do with the inception of this publication. Several years ago at the annual conference in Houma, I suggested that E. J. gather together the voluminous information he had collected and make it available to others.

Ascension Parish, Louisiana Civil Records 1770-1804. by Eileen L. Behrman, 328 Rolling Hills West, Conroe, TX 77304. 8½x11, soft covers, 109 pp. The incomparable Eileen has come through again with publication of civil records, this time in Ascension Parish. This parish has not had that much genealogical information published (other than the 1860 census by Audrey Westerman, among others), so I was happy to see this book arrive. Much

By JUDY JOHNSON
Coastlines Editor

Once upon a time, fairy tales came true for the Martin and Manuel families of Pascagoula: Their children became king and queen of a mystical land of enchantment.

Better make that twice upon a time, two decades apart.

The first time was Feb. 5, 1959, when Roy Martin Sr. and Gaynell Manuel were crowned king and queen of the Carnival Ball of Our Lady of Victories School League.

The second time was February of 1980, when Roy Martin Jr. shared his throne with OLV Queen Mary Comello at that season's OLV Carnival Ball.

Though two decades separated the events, they were both family affairs, according to Gaynell, who soon after her reign became now Mrs. Roy Martin Sr.

"I didn't think anyone could be any prouder of Roy and me when we were king and queen than our parents," Mrs. Martin said. "But Roy and I were very proud of our son last year, at least as proud as our parents had been of us."

Traditionally, the king and queen of OLV's Carnival ball earn their titles by raising the most money for the league's general fund. According to Mrs. Martin, the fund-raising projects involved the whole family and a lot of friends.

"My mother, Mrs. Emile Manuel, and Roy's mom, Mrs. G.E. Martin, worked like crazy with us to raise the money," she said. "And my dad worked like crazy running game nights to raise money, too.

"In fact, my father and Paul Summedinger made the crowns that we wore the evening of the ball, the same crowns still used by the league." So, 20 years later, Roy Jr. was crowned with the same velvet and sequins that his father had worn, made by his grandfather.

The Martins and the Manuels sold "a ton of popcorn balls" in 1959, and held cake and rummage sales. Mrs. Martin's younger sister, now Mrs. Martha Wall, "helped a lot, too. And we drug a lot of friends into it, just like we did last year to raise money for Roy Jr."

In 1959, the families raised the astronomical sum of $1,100. "It seemed like an awful lot of money then, and I guess it was a pretty big amount in those days," Mrs. Martin said. "But this past year, we raised $7,600 for Roy Jr.'s campaign, and that seems like a lot more."

In 1980, the big sellers were po-boys and gumbo, Mrs. Martin said. "We also held a bunch of disco nights, and game nights again. When you're doing things like this you have a lot of fun for all the hard work it is, and you certainly make a lot of new friends, good friends. Of course, you might lose a few old ones with all the hard work you ask of them!"

In 1959, Gaynell Manuel was escorted along centerline of the basketball court in OLV gym, which was decorated with the theme "Fairy Tales," wearing an antebellum-styled gown of georgette ruffles swirled over taffeta.

Mary Comello, daughter of Hal Comello of Pascagoula and Agnes Comello of Texas, wore a simpler gown overlaid with appliques of Alencon lace in 1980, when the ball was held for the first time outside the OLV gym, in the Civic Center. Because of damage to the gym by Hurricane Frederic, the ball had to be moved. Its theme, "Once Upon A Time," seemed almost a continuation of the theme from 20 years ago.

Both queens wore their dark hair long and flowing, and both young women were attended by young men who bore their crowns well. Roy Sr. wore a simple dark tux, with a fresh carnation boutonniere and a bright silk sash across his chest, trimmed with sequins and rhinestones.

Roy Jr., wearing a white tux and lace-fronted shirt in 1980, sported the same crown as had his father—and the same sash, made in 1959 by his grandfather, for Roy Sr. to wear.

"The school league continues to use the crowns and the sash each year, sort of a tradition for the ball," Mrs. Martin said. "The scepters and the flowers and the gowns all change, but the crowns and the sash remain the same."

The royal couple of 1959 approached their lives after high school differently from last year's twosome. For Roy Sr., graduation meant the beginning of a career in meat-cutting, first with the A&P, then National's, now at his own shop, Martin's Meat Market. For Gaynell, commencement also meant getting a job, first in the offices of then county sheriff James Ira Grimsley. She now works with her husband at their Pascagoula market.

For Mary, graduation meant going to college in Texas near her mother. And for Roy Jr., college was in the picture following high school graduation. He is also a freshman, enrolled at University of Southern Mississippi where, according to his mother, "he plays a lot of football, I know, and studies a lot, I hope."

But the differences made by 20 years are slight. Most things have remained true to tradition, like the crowns and sash.

Some other things remain the same, too. The dancing, for instance.

"I know last year the students thought they were wild and crazy with the disco," Mrs. Martin said, "but you have to remember, we had the jitterbug in 1959, and that was pretty wild, too."

Mrs. Betty Jo Krebs of Moss Point, who has worked with the OLV Carnival ball off and on since 1957, also remembers that many things stay the same through the years.

"I worked on the ball in 1959, the year Gaynell and Roy were king and queen," Mrs. Krebs said, "and I was chairman of the ball last year, when it was Roy Jr.'s and Mary's turn to be royalty. And things stay basically the same.

"We've had the same emcee every year, Eddie Khayat, except for one recent year when he had the flu, and we've always done the ball as a formal affair, with tuxes and evening gowns required. The only exceptions are the crownbearer to the king and the two heralds, who are costumed.

"But other than that, it's a ball which honors tradition a lot."

It's fitting that the ball should be traditional, since it is the second oldest Carnival event in Jackson County. This year's gala will again be held in the Civic Center, Monday at 7:30 p.m., and it will be the 36th staging of the event. A party for school children will be held immediately after the ball in the school cafeteria, as has also been done in years past.

The ball is open to the public, because OLV knows how to have a good time and likes to share good times with as many friends as possible. Admission is $2 for adults, $1.25 for students, and $7 for a family—because OLV likes to make everything into a family affair. Music will be by New Directions.

No one knows who this year's royalty will be; that's a secret till coronation time. But there will be many past royal couples in the audience when the names are called out.

This year's theme will be "Myths and Legends," which as a sort of fairy tale ring to it, a once upon a time kind of sound. But then, they believe in tradition at OLV.

Organization
of the 1st Confederate Regiment of

Confederate States of America with full roster of Co. "A"

Charles Barclay Martin, author of this record, was the oldest child of Charles B. Martin and Amanda Melvenia Millen Martin.

Charles Barclay Martin married (1) Anna America Jepson. She and their two children died in 1865.
March 19, 1868, Charles Barclay Martin married (2) Mary Jane Patton of Shubuta, Mississippi.
Although they had eight children, only three lived to maturity. The oldest who lived was Charles Thornton Martin, born August 5, 1876 in Waller County, Texas. He married Letitia Reeder of Baldwin County, Alabama. Several of their children live now in Pascagoula, Mississippi; one of these is Mrs. Ernest Wilson.

A daughter of Charles Barclay and Mary Jane Patton Martin was named Mamie Amanda, born August 3, 1878. She was married, July 2, 1900, to Thomas Heslep Patton. Their daughter, Mary Drucilla, (born July 17, 1901; died February 23, 1941) was married on March 24, 1924, to Wallace Everette Calhoun, (born January 9, 1895; died December 20, 1946).

Their son, Wallace Everette Calhoun, M.D., of Moss Point, Mississippi, (born December 1, 1926), has in his possession the original document copied here, written by his great-grandfather.

CERTIFICATION:
"Organization of 1st Confederate Regiment of Georgia Volunteers, Confederate States of America", in its original form, is written by hand on twelve long sheets of paper. It is unsigned. (The writer was, evidently, not seeking recognition or "credit"; rather, he realized the importance of preserving for posterity facts known to him.) Without the foregoing family information, his record would be considered doubtful as real history.

I certify, therefore, that I have made a true and exact copy of twelve sheets of paper, hand-written and identified by the writer as "an intelligent and satisfactory history of the same", lent to me for this purpose by Dr. Wallace E. Calhoun and still in his possession.
I certify further that this old document appears, in my opinion, to be authentic. Although age, and folding, in places required use of a magnifying glass, the writing is still clearly legible. Dr. Calhoun has seen this copy made by me, and he agrees that it is accurate. I certify that, since Dr. Calhoun has the original document and has stated that it was written by his great-grandfather, and since he readily furnished the information given above, I believe the record to be genuine, authentic, and of historical value.

To:
Librarians, Archivists, Historians,
Descendants of Charles Barclay Martin,
Genealogists, and others interested:

Please do not insert this letter in the enclosed booklet for exposure to the public.
Please do, however, file it for future reference if it should be needed through inquiry.

You may know that one of the many projects of the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, is preservation of important historical records which exist now - but which could easily be destroyed by fire, or lost through neglect. This activity, carried on by the Genealogical Records Committee, NSDAR, is bounded by certain rules, which include the percentage of rag-content in quality of paper and the sizes of all four margins, as well as the specified number of copies - 4.

When (as a neighbor) I learned from Dr. Calhoun of the existence of this record, and I undertook the task of copying 12 hand-written pages giving a first-hand account, complete and honest, of the organization of this Civil War Regiment, I intended to follow D.A.R. regulations.

No ordinary typewriter will make more than 4 legible copies of anything, on paper required by D.A.R. rules. Dr. Calhoun requested a minimum number of 6 copies, for members of his family. Reading the document gives the feeling that far more copies are necessary.

Since I own and operate my own mimeograph machine, and since one job of actual typing can give better results by this method of duplication, I am making, as a beginning, 35 copies. These are being sent to libraries, State Archives, and others as indicated by content.

Please do not write to Dr. Calhoun, who is a very busy Medical Doctor and has no time for extraneous correspondence. I am retaining the stencils, and I shall be able to make more copies if they should be requested.

Since this entire effort comes under the category (loosely) as "a labor of love", there will be no charge.

In February 1862, Co's. "A" "B" "C" "D" & "E" having reenlisted were transferred from Warrenton, Fla., near Pensacola, to Mobile, Ala. whereupon the organization of the 1st Confed. Ga. Reg't. some changes in the Officers of the Companies took place, necessitated by promotions etc. Hence, Co. "A" having lost Capt. Aderhold promoted to Lieut. Col. was officered as follows.

Oliver P. Poe	Capt.	Macon, Ga.	Wounded slightly in 1864 during skirmishing around Atlanta, Ga. was sent to the rear and never rejoined the Company, having requested detail in Engineers Office at Macon, Ga.
Geo. A. Cole	1st Lieut.	Macon, Ga.	Sent home on Sick Leave and died in Macon, Ga. 1862.

Gabriel Parker	Sen'r 2nd Lieut. until after death of Lieut. Cole, then promoted to 1st Lieut. Served as such until killed near Atlanta, 1864, by a spent ball during one of the skirmishes.
James B. Denton	Jr. 2nd Lieut. Promoted to Sen'r 2nd Lieut. on Lieut. Parker's promotion in 1862. Lost an arm at the Battle of Franklin, Tenn. Nov. 30th, 1864, sent to the rear and did not rejoin the Command.
Ira N. Anderson	Junior 2nd Lieut. Macon, Ga. Elected to fill vacancy caused by promotion of Lieut. Denton. Was severely wounded at Battle of Franklin, Tenn. Nov. 30th 1864, sent to Hospital and did not return to Command.
John Harper	Jr. 2nd Lieut. Macon, Ga. Elected in 1864 to vacancy caused by promotions on death Lieut. Parker. Very severely wounded at Battle Franklin Tenn. Nov. 30th 1864, sent to rear and did not rejoin the Command.

The 1st Batt'n of 1st Confed. Reg't under the immediate command of Col. Geo. A. Smith was sent to Fort Gaines, Ala. in 1862, and remained there until March 1864, when we were ordered to Dalton, Ga. and joined the 2nd Batt'n under Lieut. Col. J. Clark Gordon, who had been promoted after Lieut. Col. Aderhold was Cashiered. This Battalion was sent to Braggs Army from Mobile, in 1862, and was assigned to the Brigade of Brig. Gen. John K. Jackson who was then serving in Walker's Division Hardee's Corps. After the arrival of Col. Smith with the 1st Battalion, the Regiment was reunited and assigned to Steven's Brigade, Walker's Division Hardee's Corps, and was serving with Gen. Stevens when he was mortally wounded on 20th July at Peach Tree Creek. The Command of the Brigade then devolved on Col. Smith as Senior Colonel and was led by him in the fight on the 22nd of July between Atlanta and Decatur. In this engagement, Capt. Massey commanding Regiment was Captured, with Capt. W. W. Gordon (who afterwards escaped), Lieuts. Small Co. "C" & Henry Co. "H". They were kept prisoners until the surrender. At the death of Maj. Gen'l Walker on the 22nd July 1864, Steven's Brigade was transferred to Bates Division Cheathams Corps, and served with it until the fighting around Nashville. Gen. Henry R. Jackson of Savannah, Ga. having been assigned to the command of the Brigade, which at time was composed of the 1st Confed. Reg't, Ga. Vols., 29th, 30th & 66th Ga. Reg'ts and 1st Batt'n Ga. Sharpshooters, Maj. Schaaf Com'dg.

During the retreat from Dalton to Atlanta Captain Goodwin and about half of his Company deserted to the enemy, after we had fallen back from Marrietta. The Regiment lost over two hundred captured at Nashville, but the remnant that was left consisting of about one hundred and thirty men went through to the end.

After the fighting at Nashville, the Brigade was assigned to the Division of Maj. Gen. H. D. Clayton, who finding we had no Field or Staff Officers for duty, assigned Lieut. Col. Osceola Kyle of Alabama to command us, and under his leadership we participated in the Battle of Kinston, N. C. and Bentonsville, N. C. in which latter engagement we had one hundred and thirty one effective men, which a few days after the Battle was consolidated into a Battalion of which Capt. W. J. Whitsitt of Ringgold, Ga. was made Major. Lieut. Padrick, Regiment forgotten, was made Adjutant and the writer Serg't Major. Dr. Rossignat of Augusta, Ga. assigned as Act'g Ass't Surgeon, and it was thus when we were paroled at Greensboro, N. C.

Sinatra Case Wrapped Up

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The kidnap case of Frank Sinatra Jr. appeared virtually wrapped up today and the 19-year-old prepared to resume his singing engagement at the Lake Tahoe gambling spa where he was abducted.

The FBI remained mum concerning the details of the capture of the three kidnapping suspects Friday and early Saturday, but recovery of nearly all of the $240,000 ransom paid by Frank Sinatra Sr. was announced by the federal agency.

The young singer's manager in Stateline, Nev., said Sunday night Frank Jr. was en route back to resume the engagement. But his mother, Mrs. Nancy Sinatra, said earlier he would not reappear there until Tuesday night.

Early Sunday, Frank Jr. left his mother's exclusive Bel-Air home where he returned early last Wednesday morning after being released by the kidnapers. His father's Hollywood spokesman said the young man returned to his Hollywood apartment Sunday.

The families of the two 23-year-old suspects arrested for the Sunday night kidnaping prepared to "do everything possible" to help them.

Likes hunting, loves dog

By ROBBIE ROBERTSON
Mississippi Press Staff

MOSS POINT — As Roy Martin has gotten older, some of his buddies may say that he has mellowed somewhat.

In his younger days, Martin said he would blast away at most any legal game. But now as his kids grow older, he enjoys the hunt but loves his old hunting dog.

"Sometimes I go deer hunting and don't even take a gun; all my friends laugh at me about it. The thrill is tracking the thing, knowing you can kill him and letting him walk. When you shot the deer, the hunt is over," Martin said.

It's just that type of attitude that made Martin a unanimous choice as the 1996 Pas-Point Chapter of Ducks Unlimited Sportsman of the Year. Martin will be honored Wednesday at the Elk's Lodge in Pascagoula.

First Federal Bank will also be honored as Corporate Sponsor of the Year.

When the selection committee got together to make its choice, Martin was an easy pick. There wasn't a single thing that pushed Martin over the top; it was more of a combination of factors.

"We were extremely lucky when it came to Roy, he was a unanimous pick," publicity chairman Randy Haarala said. "He was nominated and accepted right away.

"When you are looking for somebody for this type of award, Roy is the perfect choice. He is a fine family man, a good business man, a person who genuinely cares about conservation and a just a good member of the community."

Martin was somewhat shocked when he heard of the selection.

"It was quite a surprise," Martin said. "I never thought that I would come up with something like this because there are a whole lot more people that are more deserving than I am."

Martin's humble demeanor also transfers to the woods as well.

"I would rather see somebody else do well," Martin said. "I get more pleasure out of other people, especially younger kids, having a good day in the woods than me killing something. I have killed a lot of deer and ducks in my time.

DUCKS UNLIMITED

"I get more thrill out of working my dog. I love to work with dogs."

Even though Martin admits he will take an occasional duck, he enjoys taking a young dog, sitting by the water and calling in the ducks.

"Duck hunting with a dog is something else," Martin said. "It does something to you. It is a thrill to work the ducks. Put a block of decoys out there, have your dog beside you and you could be in heaven.

"Talk about a high, you don't need any liquor for a high like that. There's nothing like seeing a young dog work for the first time, they can be rewarding and frustrating at the same time."

More than the hunting or the time with his favorite dog, Martin simply enjoys the people in his club and the time he gets to spend with them.

"I do the things I do because those are the things I like, but I like the people in the club and spending time with those guys," Martin said. "I enjoy the club and the people in it."

Confederate widow plans a couple of firsts

▸ Alberta Martin to take plane ride; signs up for pension

Associated Press

ELBA, Ala. — Alberta Martin is 89 years old, but she's planning a couple of first-time experiences in her life — flying in an airplane and getting a pension as a Civil War soldier's widow.

Mrs. Martin, whose husband was a Confederate Army private, plans to visit Virginia battlefields where he fought when she takes a three-day trip to the Sons of Confederate Veterans' 1996 Centennial Reunion in Richmond on July 31.

Mrs. Martin and her son will make the trip on a plane — her first flight.

"I'm scared to death," she said.

She also recently signed papers to apply with the Alabama Department of Human Resources for a Confederate Widow's pension of about $150 a month.

"I don't know why they didn't give me one earlier," said Mrs. Martin, whose cause has been backed by state Sen. Dwight Adams, D-Enterprise.

Adams said DHR officials have told him that her chances of getting the pension are good.

Mike Gibson, a spokesman for the agency, said officials cannot comment on specific cases. "But we can tell you the laws are still on the books and if someone applies and they qualify, they will receive the benefits," he said.

Mrs. Martin's story has been reported in the past, particularly when a Confederate widow in South Carolina died several years ago and Mrs. Martin was described by some Civil War groups as the only surviving Confederate widow.

Mrs. Martin was born Dec. 4, 1906 in Coffee County. She was about 18 when she married Howard Farrow and had a son with him before Farrow died in a car accident in 1926. On Dec. 10, 1927, she married William Jasper Martin, who was born in 1845 in Augusta, Ga., and was about 60 years her senior. Ten months after they married, they had a son, William, who now lives with Mrs. Martin and will fly with her to the Virginia reunion.

Civil War widow Alberta Martin, 89, sits in her favorite chair in her living room in Elba, Ala. Mrs. Martin is the only known living widow of a Confederate veteran.

William Jasper Martin died on July 8, 1932. Two months after his death, Mrs. Martin married his grandson, Charlie Martin. Adams said Mrs. Martin may have become eligible for the Confederate veteran survivor's benefits when she was left a widow by Charlie Martin's death on March 1, 1983.

Mrs. Martin said William Jasper Martin never spoke of his soldiering in the Civil War when he served with the 4th Regiment Company K of the Alabama Infantry of the Confederate Army.

She said she married him in part "to get away from home, I guess. I had this little boy and I needed some help to raise him. ... The old saying is, 'It's better to be an old man's darling than a young man's slave.'"

Else Martin, who recently retired from the Jackson-George Regional Library System, was honored by Jackson County Genealogical Society on June 21.

Twenty-eight society members and guests gathered for dinner at Scranton's to pay tribute to Martin, who has headed the genealogy section of the Pascagoula Public Library for several years.

Member Harry McDonald of Moss Point, a longtime library volunteer, spoke about Martin's efforts to help the public trace their roots and her work to further genealogical education.

She was presented a gift certificate from the society in celebration of her retirement. Martin, who lives in Hurley and formerly worked at the East Central branch of the library system, served several years as president of the genealogical society and is now editor of the journal.

She expressed her appreciation during the informal gathering. "It was so wonderful," she said about the event. "I was greatly touched to see so many people," she said. "I couldn't have done it without their supporting me. We all support each other."

She said her assistant, Sherry Owen, would assume her position as director of the section.

Martin's husband, John, accompanied her to the dinner. Other family members attending were her son and daughter-in-law, Brian and Elizabeth Martin of Gautier, and their daughter, Kimberly, and her grandson, Philip Loth of Charleston, S.C. She was honored with a public reception at the Pascagoula library on Friday, June 28.

An arched candelabra of 15 lighted tapers and two seven - branched candelabra cast a glow on massed arrangements of golden mums and rust gladioli, used at the altar.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore traditional white fashioned with a natural waist. The bodice, re-embroidered with seed pearls, featured a stand-up collar and full bishop sleeves. The softly draped skirt swept to a chapel length train, and her chapel - length veil of illusion was outlined with a scalloped lace motif, echoing that of the dress. She carried a cascade of white silk roses, carnations and greenery tied with white satin streamers.

Suzanne Davis of Jacksonville was honor attendant and bridesmaids were Michelle Wells and Donna Martin, sisters of the bride, and Eleanor Cannon of Baton Rouge, La.

The attendants wore two - tiered rust gowns with high necklines, accented with rust and camel.

Ensign Gene Christian was best man. Groomsmen and ushers were Lt. Edward Alder, Lt. j.g. Charlie Martin and Lt. j.g. Dillard George III, all of Jacksonville; Lt. j.g. Paul Brown of New Orleans, and Ensign Thomas Destafrey of Pensacola.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Martin wore a two piece ensemble with a lace jacket, all in shades of heather gray. Mother of the bridegroom chose a frock of peach silk.

As the couple left the church, they passed beneath the traditional arch of swords, and were introduced for the first time as Lt. j.g. and Mrs. Daniel Todd Hurt.

Among those assisting at the reception, which followed at the Pascagoula Country Club, were Linda Anderson, Mary Guardia and Carolyn Martin, sister of the bride, all of Pascagoula.

Following the wedding trip to the Yucatan Peninsula of Mexico, the couple is at home in Jacksonville, Fla., where both are assigned to the Naval Air Station.

(See William M. Passons Family).

Arthur R. (Polk) Martin, born about 1845, married 1865, Van Buren County, Tennessee, Martha Ann (Smith) Morgan. They left Van Buren County after 1870 census and were somewhere in Alabama in 1880. ELDON AND BETTY MARTIN FAMILY

Betty Jean Sanders was born June 7, 1930 in Murchison, the daughter of Jesse Jackson and Lola Mae Burton Sanders. She attended School at Murchinson and Brownsboro and was salutatorian of her grammar school class. On October 22, 1949 she married Eldon W. (Pete) Martin whose ancestors were early settlers of Grayson County. Pete began a career as a state employee working for over thirty five years as a predator control agent in Taylor County while he and Betty raised a family of two daughter. He won many award and commendations for his work and often was asked to train new employees. Betty devoted most of her adult life to homemaking, but later in life, she worked for the Wylie school district before she and Pete retired in the later 1980s.

Sharon Dannette Martin, the oldest daughter of Betty and Pete, was born March 5, 1952. She was valedictorian of her high school class and attended McMurray College and Texas A&M University. On August 17, 1973 she married Tommy Foster, also an A&M graduate, who has, since then, developed a successful real estate company. Sharon and Tommy now live in Abilene and have three children; Kristen Renee, born Janaury 23, 1976; Kelly Michele, born May 10, 1980; and Kent Martin Fost, born November 21, 1983.

Terri Jan, the second daughter of Betty and Pete, was born May 28, 1959. She is employed as a medical records librarian and is marrie to Arlis N. Wright.

Since retirement and the marriage of their children, Betty and Pete have kept busy with travel hobbies, and enjoying the company of their grandchildren. They have traveled extensively throughout the United States but are always finding new places to see and opportunities to add to their large slide collection. They are also active in the Methodist Church, having been members of that denomination since childhood.

Madison, Iowa as widow of WILLIAM EDGAR COPPAGE. She named her first son ARTHUR MARTIN COPPAGE and a second on CHARLES ORSON COPPAGE. Family lore indicated that my Martin Family originated in Scotland. They traveled on to Uster or Antrim County in Ireland where they became "Scotch-Irish". Early in the 18th Century, they traveled to the New World via Nova Scotia. I have proven my family ties back to JAMES MARTIN and MARTHA ELLIOTT in Woodford Co., Ky. The generation preceding James and Martha has been deduced by papers found at the Frankfort, Ky. Library and Wills left by WILLIAM MARTIN who married MARY WILLIAMS and a will by William's son John, which named his siblings and by a will left by James, all in Woodford Co., Ky. I also have copies of Bible records for James and his family. William Martin and Mary William were living in Augusta Co., Virginia, when several or all of their children were born. Their son William, was a Revolutionary Soldier, who was married to LETITIA McCLANAHAN. This Martin family was also Presbyterians. William and Mary traveled to Kentucky in their old age to live with William and Letitia, and were buried in Kentucky. I am interested in obtaining more information from anyone who has done research on this family.

1671 CENSUS (contd.)

TRANSLATOR'S NOTES

In order to preserve as much as possible its identity, character and unique charm as a document of the 1600's, its photocopy has been given special attention. For the reasons given, and because of its particular adaptability to a literal rendering, as are most census papers, this document has so been translated.

"Laboureur" - plowman; centuries-old term for "farmer." The old "Arpan" (Arpent) varied somewhat in extent in different localities in France, but it being more or less identical in area to the English "Acre," the latter term has been used. "Bestes a cornes" literally, "horned animals" - cattle (the bovines.)

"Texier" - a rare word, meaning "weaver," from the Latin "texere"; to weave (cloth). "Mareschal" (maréchal) in the French army of that time the word had various meanings, particularly in the cavalry branch; G. TRAHAN, to whom the term is applied, was not, however, a military man. So the only meaning left to consider is "maréchal-ferrant" or simply "maréchal" - one whose trade is to shoe horses, at a blacksmith's forge; a farrier. But in the "Roll...of the Saint-Jehan" he is listed as "mareschal de tranchant," "tranchant" - the sharp edge of a cutting tool. So he is here set down simply as a "blacksmith."

"Taillandier," according to the "Nouveau Petit Larousse" dictionary, is "a blacksmith who makes tools, especially axes, hammers, spades, etc." That, of course, is the modern meaning. "Taillant" is the cutting edge of a blade. The ordinary short present-day translation of "taillandier" is "maker of edged-tools." However, it is not easy to guess exactly what this word, written over three centuries ago, was meant to represent. Jehan PITRE, to whom the word was applied, if he was an invalid, disabled, or a cripple, might have gone from house to house sharpening scissors, hoes, etc. (a tool-sharpener), with a grindstone, or other sharpening stones, as disabled persons used to do even after the turn of this present century, before the present era of public relief and asistance. However, if he was able-bodied and a good artisan as he probably was, he would re-fashion and sharpen old, worn-out tools with fire from a forge, hammer and anvil, hence, a blacksmith.

"Terres en labour" - plowed land; "terres abourables," literally, "plowable land," plowable," however, is not in Webster's Collegiate Dict. 5th Ed. Instead, "cleared land" has been used, meaning "ready for the plow," in that bushes, stumps, rocks, etc., have been cleared from it in the case of woodland; andwater drained, in the case of marshland. "Terres en valeur" - productive land.

At page 2 of the transcription, among the children of Michel DUPEUT and his wife, is Marie POTETTE, aged 14, eight years older than the rest ofthe children. She probably was an orphan related to the family. (There was a Jehan POTET, a Swiss, in Acadia in 1643).

The name of the Micmac Indian wife of Pierre MARTIN the Younger, is here written as "Anne OXESTNOROUESTE." Mlle. Massignon writes it as "OXINOROUDH" (Les Parlers....p. 59). Godbout (M.S.G.C.-F, Vol. I, p. 28): "Anne OUESTUOROUEST, also called PETITOT." It is the one word in this census which most defies transcription with the certainty of being right.[1]

[1] Ed. note: if one breaks down the word, it reads like a corruption of geographical directions: ox; east, north, west.

A FEW MORE THOUGHTS ON ABRAHAM MARTIN (contd.)

Could he have been in Scotland before this time? Quite possibly. His capacity as a foreign merchant in Scotland would have given him every opportunity to travel, so that picking up his household and moving to America may not have seemed as momentous an undertaking as it would have been for others.

Still, why would a father take his wife and daughter to Canada, and leave his only son behind? Might he have intended to return? Could the child have been adopted by friends or family? We have no way of knowing. We must notice, however, that the younger Abraham feels obligated to state his ancestry on his gravestone, as if no one left alive knew who his father was.

If one eliminates the Jean's, Pierre's and Louis' from the men who settled the 17th-Century Canada, one is not left with too many names. "Abraham" is not a common name. The combination of "Abraham" and "dit-L'Ecossais" is more than enough to compensate for the common-ness of "MARTIN." We can therefore allow ourselves to think that the immense co-incidence of finding Abraham MARTIN's name on a Scottish tombstone might not be all that co-incidental after all. Ultimately we must make up our own minds. Was Abraham MARTIN really Scottish, or was he just a widely-traveled Frenchman?

###

Ed. note: A letter from Renée Tetreault, 11 Westdale Dr., Welland, Ont. Can. L3C 2S1 commented on the article about Abraham MARTIN also. She descends from Anne MARTIN and Jean COTE and mentioned that Memoires de la Société Genéalogique Canadian-Française, Vol. XXVII, #3, p. 162 contained a 3-page article titled "Abraham MARTIN - Frenchman or Scot?."

ACADIAN EXILES LIST

The April issue contained a request from Mrs. Eloise Bailey of the Camden County Historical Society regarding a list of Acadian names that she was trying to determine the origin of. Two people responded: James T. Vocelle of Vero Beach, Fla. who came to our membership via Mrs. Bailey originally through coverage of a cemetery containing an Acadian named COMMEAU. Mr. Vocelle pointed out that the list came from a book by Dr. Arthur H. Eaton titled "History of Kings County." Another book, "History of Grand Pré" by John Frederic Herbin, contained a list of the population of Minas as of 1714.

Mr. Vocelle also responded to Judy Riffel's request for verification on her Comeau query in the April issue.

The other person responding to the Bailey request was Terese Yule of Halifax, N.S. She also referred to Mr. Eaton's book, stating the list in question was on page 49 - the list of Acadians who took the oath of loyalty to George II in April, 1730. Two chapters in the book covered Acadians: Acadian French and The Acadians to the Expulsion. Eaton also described Grand-Pré, and two churches: St. Joseh and St. Charles. Thanks to all of you who so willingly respond to queries!

EXCERPT FROM "THE ACADIANS OF PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND." From Prince Edward Island Magazine....(date and location unknown to us)

Among the earliest settlers at Port Lajoie were two Acadian families, Michel HACHE-GALLANT and Pierre MARTIN. Both families bore a high character for integrity, and both were assiduous cultivators of the soil. Michel HACHE-GALLANT and Pierre MARTIN left Acadia and settled at Port Lajoie in 1720. In the succeeding years up to 1724 five of the GALLANTS and four of the MARTIN families followed the example of their fathers, left Acadia and came to Ile Saint-Jean. All the GALLANTS were married and had residences and families; only two of the MARTINS were householders and married. The members of the two families numbered in all fifty - very nearly one-half of the entire population (Prince Edward Island Magazine, John Caven, 325-329).

A map of the East River (Hillsboro) dated 1730 of which there is a copy in the Canada Archives, shows three GALLANT families at Port Lajoie and six MARTIN and two GALLANT families near the upper reaches of the Hillsboro river near the present Pisquid river. This map also shows a chapel at this point.

From 1724 to 1738 three invasions of field mice caused great devastation. The plague of 1738 was the most severe. Every field of grain from Three Rivers (Georgetown) to Malpeque was made desolate by their ravages, and the settlers suddenly found themselves face to face with starvation. Supplies of provisions had to be sent from Louisburg for relief of the inhabitants during the winter months. When spring arrived the officials in Louisburg hadto supply seed for all the settlers in Ile St. Jean.

These rodents were so numerous and their appetite was so voracious, that after devastating the cultivated crops, they swarmed down upon the grassy flats bordering the rivers, and hurried on devouring all vegetation in their path, and rushed headlong into the streams meeting a watery grave. (A detailed account by John Caven of these invasions by the mice can be found in the Prince Edward Island Magazine of August 1899, No. 6, pp. 201-205. This magazine can be seen at the Charlottetown Public Library.)

Alma B. Glaeser, 5938 Music St., New Orleans, LA 70122 answered my query from the April issue.

Marguerite BRAUD, who married Louis DANTIN, was the d/o Alexis BRAUD/Marie GUILLOT. Marguerite came to Louisiana in 1785 with her parents, and was listed with them in the 1788 census of Bayou Lafourche, although her marriage to Louis DANTIN had taken place 23 July 1787. The names of Marguerite's parents are given in the bapt. record of Juan Bautista DANTIN, 1799 (ref. BRDA, v. 2, pp. 220-221).

In regard to the first part of your query, it appears that Rosalie ARCENEAUX and Marie/Marguerite Catherine ARSENEAUX may be one and the same. In the early censuses, she is shown as "Rosalie," but most of the SWLA records show her as "Marie Catherine." She is listed in the succession of her father, Pierre ARSENEAUX, as "Rosalie." Probably the succession of either Joseph-Athanase BREAUX or Marie-Catherine ARSENEAUX would show the names of the children, and might indicate if there were more than one marriage. Sincerely, Alma B. Glaeser.

A FEW MORE THOUGHTS ON ABRAHAM MARTIN....submitted by Al Ledoux, 411 Waupelani Dr. #307, State College, PA 16801.

Abraham MARTIN-dit-L'ESCOSSAIS (Alias the Scot) has always been an enigma for French-Canadian genealogists. More precisely, his exact point of origin has always been an enigma. Why should a Scot, evidently married to a French woman, choose to go live in New France, abandoning his nationality in the process? Since nearly all French-Canadians are descended from the man, myself included, the problem reduced itself, for me, to the name which I should pen onto my ancestor chart, the name, that is, of Abraham MARTIN's birthplace.

Dauzat, in his Dictionnaire étymologique des noms de famille et prénoms de France, p. IX, concludes that surnames or aliases are not iron-clad indications as to a person's origin. They may be a good indication of the personality of the original bearer, or of his appearance, or job, but not necessarily of where he was from. I believe this to be the case with Abraham MARTIN. Aliases could be attributed to a person based on lands which he had visited. It seems that this is how this venerable ancestor picked up his own alias.

One day, while doing genealogical research in the New Bedford, Massachusetts library's genealogy room, I happened, totally by accident, to pick up a small, rather tattered volume of Scottish burial inscriptions. The author had noted the most memorable ones some time in the mid-19th century. Glancing through the index, I cam to the inscription belonging to "Abraham and Sarah." This combination of names was an amusing coincidence. Evidently, the author of the book had had the same opinion. The memorial piqued my interest to such an extent that, in 1975, when I had the opportunity to visit England and Ireland, I made a special detour to Dundee, the location of the intriguing stone.

I knew that the sought-after stone was in the "Howff," a rather bizarre-

ACADIAN NAMES FROM NEW RIVER BAPTIST CHURCH

Mrs. Villareal also sent me a condensed history of the New River Baptist Church compiled by Mrs. M. L. Martin in 1922. The church was organized 1849 at what is now known as Gonzales, La. Some Acadian namescontained in the history were: Delphine GAUTREAU, b. Iberville parish; she was the widow of Joseph GONZALES when she joined and "was put to torture by her persecuting relatives, being dragged to and fro in the vain attempt to intimidate her the day she was baptized, but she remained faithful, led a consistent Christian 53 years (sic) and carried scars to her grave at the age of 84. She was grandmother of Mrs. J. F. ARCENEAUX."

"At the close of the seven homeless years Joseph MARTINEZ, one of the early members, donated to the church a plot consisting of one acre of land, thus the Church secured her permanent abode and pitched her abiding tabernacle on the plot, six miles east of the town of Gonzales, where N.R.B.C. has ever since been domiciled and where the house of worship now stands."

Other Acadian names found in this history were Adam GUEDRY, Barney BROUSSARD, Edward DeLAUNE "A Methodist of Hope Villa," Vernon BILLEU (BILLIAU?).

Mrs. Phyllis McPheeters, 435 Forest Valley Rd., NE, Atlanta, GA 30342, received from fellow member Fr. Roméo Trahan a followup on her Narcisse CYR article in the January issue. He was the second to correspond with her regarding it. He wrote that the Mary Anne that Narcisse Married was Mary Anne NEWTON, who married him at the Grande Ligne mission on 5 June, 1849. She was the daughter of James NEWTON of Sherrington, and was the mother of Samuel A. CYR, born in 1850.

Recently he sent a letter quoting information from "The Scottish Tradition in Canada," published by McClelland & Stewart in association with the Multiculturalism Program, Dept. of the Secretary of State of Canada and the Publishing Centre, Supply & Services Canada, Ottawa:

It is in answer to a query on Abraham MARTIN: "Undoubtedly the best known of the reputed Scots in the early years of the history of New France is Abraham MARTIN dit l'Escossais. The term "dit l'Escossais" which was found in at least one document concerning Abraham MARTIN is a solid indication that he was indeed of Scottish ancestry (Notre Dame de Québec, Régistre de Baptéme, le 24 Octobre 1621). The name MARTIN could also be English, German or French. MARTIN or MARTINE is one of the most international of names but there are other pieces of what could be called corroborative evidence of his ancestry. MARTIN's wife was Marguerite LANGLOIS. The name LANGLOIS was an adaptation of L'ANGLAIS, often

Sometimes we all need something and someone to believe in. When illness, disability or other uncontrollable problems limit our abilities to lead productive lives, our United Way is there to help. Some very good reasons to believe in the United Way of Jackson County are pictured on the cover of this year's brochure. These local citizens represent only a few of the people that the United Way is helping right here in our own community.

Through the United Way of Jackson County, we reach out to many people and often help ourselves as well.

- We shelter and protect abused children and adults.
- We help elderly citizens lead more comfortable lives.
- We counsel troubled families and help them remain together.
- We teach illiterate adults to read and write.
- We rehabilitate people whose lives were once lost to substance addiction.
- We pay essential living expenses for families temporarily without income.
- We guide children toward making responsible choices for a drug-free life, and lead them away from youth gangs and crime.
- We purchase medications for children and adults who are sick, and sometimes terminally ill.

Our contributions to the United Way strengthen families, promote self-sufficiency and improve the general health of our community. Experienced local volunteers, knowledgeable of local human needs, direct our United Way. They monitor service agencies and make sure our dollars are well spent so that we can continue making a positive difference in thousands of lives.

Please join me in pledging support to United Way of Jackson County. United Way is something we can all believe in...and a way you can help people believe in themselves.

the sweet and Good looks past, for I think I had just left when the good looks was given out. but if you are satisfeid so am I. you are sweet and pretty enough for bothe of us I only wonder that you could think of me at all, except as the ugly one. Well Dear I will have my teeth fixed, if I can get the time to have them attended to, just for your sakes. Now Pishu you ought to Know that it is a pleasure to me to do any thing for you and as for getting angry at you, I love you too well for that, as long as my Pishi love me I couldnt get angry at her just for a trifling thing. Sweet heart you made a mistake in the month, you write it Sept. and this month is Sept. I you have gone any place is charming while my own Pishu is there. Yes Dearest I like to write to you better than any one else in the world, but I would Ten Thousand times rather be by your side talking and looking in your sweet eyes. Some then I would be happy, and still more so if I Knew that you belonged to me and I belonged to you untill death due us part. Keep praying Dearest He that ask for it shall be giving. Sweet heart I am like the old hen sayed to the rooster. keep scratching. That is what I am doing now I dont Know if you will be able to read this as I have to catch

P.S. Sweet heart if you want any change made or any thing you dont like. dont hesitate. but tell me. let us have confidence in each other. what concerns one concerns the other. so let us be plain with one another. Good bye Dearest and God keep you for your loving and true but if you dont care for me, I hope you will not think that I would do any thing to hurt your feelings

Well Sweet me if I was right shure that you wanted to see me, and would care to talk to me, I would come down for there is no one that I would rather see or talk to than your own Sweet self. but you know you wrote me that you did not love me so I just supose you didnt want to see me We are coming to Scranton soon for lumber for the Boss so if you still want to see me
I will come how far is it from Dangleys Mills to where you live. tell me the shortest way so, as soon as I get me about no Tisha I dont know that you love me, but I hope you do. for I hope to have a many happy day with you by my side. but if you dont love me why that settles it for I Wouldent Marry the best girl in the world if I thought she did not care for me as a Wife should. Now sweet do you think you are doing me just right. you have my picture to look at. and I havent one of yours. I dont need a picture to help me remember your sweet self. for your face is engraved in my mind, never to be erased.

or fade out. Well Tishie you

Laurel would be a good place for us to come to as there is plenty of work, and we would be close to her. so I think it would be best for you to try and get us up there and then you can be independent, and can devote your time to your affairs. Earnest is getting large enough to make some money and can with what your Father and my self can do make enough to live comfortable on.

Well Sweet heart you see they have decided in our favor. about leaving to our selves. and I am glad of it. but I do so hate for them to go. but I guess it will be the best in the long run. the only thing it will set me back some what in my calculations. and make the time a little longer for me to wait

My Darling Sweet heart.

I have just received your most delightfull loving and more than welcoming letter of the 22d. And Dearest I have so much to write that I hardly know where or how to commence, so first I guess I will answer the question in your sweet letter.

Now Sweet heart dont you think you are doing me a great injustice by doubting me you know that I love you, and you only and I am as true to you as the needle in a compass. I have gone with a good many girls and thought I loved them, but I find in my feelings for you, a great difference With the others it was allmost alike where so that all of them can get some thing to do, that prehaps it would be best for them to stick to us, and we could be two seprate and distict familys.

I won't write any more a bout
it untill I hear from you agan for fear of making the empresions that I was trying to told you in to my views. Mamma says she is going to write you a letter to tell you of the change of plans and to start a friend ship.3 Which I think will turn to love on bothe sides, if the opitunetie is given, you see you will take Sisters place in her afections to a great extent. But I won't say any more on the subject only don't let me biurse your opinion if you don't think you will like it. why we will try and that you would prehaps get tiured of Waiting, the time it will take but I am like you I want to get ready in earnest when we are ready.

You know Pet we won't have so awfull mutch to start on just enough to get a long comfortably on, and we can add to as we find knead for more. I wish I was rich so I could set us up in good stile.
but wishing don't do any good only hard work, and plenty of skeeming a long with it.
Yes Dearest 3 months is just 89 days longer than I want to wait, but if I must, I must.
I guess there is no use to grumble if I had only listened

Dear Friend

I [illegible] your kind welcome and more than appreciated letter of the 6th instant, and I had began to think as you said, that you had forgotten me. When I got your letter it was 12 days overdue. We haven't been to town in over two weeks, and I have asked the Boss to look the mail for me every time he has gone to town and untill yesterday, it has been the same old, no mail. but thank the Lord, he brought me yesterday and when I found it was from you my joy knew no bounds and after I had read y

I looked at it off, and on all night and wondered if My Darling. was thinking, or dreaming. of me. as much as I think of her. I watched the houses on the beach, as long as I could see them, and just as the sun dipped below the water (it seemed to me) I took a long look, and wished I was by your side, but wishing did no good, Well in the bye and bye. I wont have to wish, for I will be, and have a right to be there;

P.S. Tell Osker Will sends his regards to him. and wants to know how he is getting along. he thinks of him often to the dictation of my heart

I wouldent have had to wait
it would have all ready happened but I did not know then. I have finally waked up and I know that I love you Dear and love you with my whole heart. I didnt know that any thing in the world could make the chang in me, that have been made. it is just like I have waked up in a new world.
About coming to Scranton to work. if I can make my point here in Mobile I think I can make more than in Scranton. I wont have any board to pay here
I wont get to see you like I could if I was in Scranton, but I will try and run down once and a while and keep the other fellows off for a day any way.

is yours3 makes me the proudest man a living. for I know if it is mine that you love me.
What is Osker teasing you about If wishing would have done any good I would have been with you at the fish frie. not for the fish, but to see and talk with you if even for a short time prehaps I could have stolen a kiss or two. never mind you can be stingie with them now but if I dont make up for lost kisses, when we are married.
If you dont like to be kissed
I pity you. when we are married
I mean I pity you now. I wont then. so just prepare for it.
I ixpected that they would tease of sight out of mind. but with you sweet heart no matter what I am doing. you are in my mind and my every thought is of my Darling one.

And I am glad that hearing from me made you hapie. if you would be made hapie to see me, then my cup of joy would be nearly full, it will not by full. and I wont be perfectly hapie untill I can call you my own Darling sweet wife.
Well sweet heart things have changed some sinse I wrote last.
that will make some difference in the leanght of time. it will shorten the time some what but I am afraid you wont like the change and I dont either in one way.
The chang is this the folks have decided that if we all get some that she loves me and I love her to well to not be able to get a long together now Tishu dont think me conceited for saying that you love me, for you said you did, and I have got confidense enough in you to be lieve any thing you tell me, that is more than I can say for the rest of women. Well Dear

I dont begrudge the trouble
I have had, for havent
it been the cause of my finding the sweetest and truest girl Well with one exception I am a little bet

Sweetest you cant imagine how happie it makes me to hear that you are glad to hear from me. if you are as glad to hear from me as I am to hear from you.
I am satisfied
Well Tishu I am glad you enjoyed your self at the Dance, and hope you will have a many more nice times
But I hope that I will be with you to share the pleasure.
the only pleasure I ask is to be by your side, and share yours joys and sorrows if you have any sorrows to share which I hope and pray you wont. I would gladly share them a line.
Yes Dearest I wish I could have been with you, tho

a lie. Nora your letter was short and sweet, but better that than none at all. I will get even with you some day. Good by. I have doubled every word in her letter. Well Dearest I still say you are stingie, but I will get even. wait untill I come down if you dont catch it. Why do you think I wont get as many as I think, well I am going to have them, fight or no fight. so look sharp. only 5 Kisses Why you will make me vanish Dyspepsied, but I will hope for more, I know you would feed a starving person. Darling the Band of gold will be in want to bring you to a home there or where ever it is. for I believe in the old saying that a rolling stone gathers no moss.

Sweet heart Thank your Mother for me for her kind wishes. and give my best regards to her and the rest of the family. No No Mama didnt think any sutch a thing, she was a fraid you and I Dearest wouldnt be able to get a long together, and that if they were living with us that they would get the blame like they did in the past. but I have convinsed them, that my Darling is a woman of good sound sense and make up your mind as to what you and I are going to do, by the time I come down for I want a truthfull answer. keep the picture untill then. I would like to write more but my pen is so bad I can't so untill next time I will say good bye and god bless you write real soon to yours, in waiting see you again, and then if some of the rest of the Boys got you they might make you happier than I could. It wouldn't be my fault if you wasn't happy though with me. for your happiness will be my aim in life. But I sincerely hope that the Lord or the boys either won't take you from me. Well Sweet heart I mean every word I said. I say that I love you and you only and that you are the only one in my heart, you are stamped there indelible that is the Gods truth, so help me God, that is as near as I can prove it to you. by telling it. You know I wouldn't swear and Oath by the Lord to me and my stars. I dont believe it through. I think they would let me know if you were. some way.

I will stand the damage to writing. my happiest moments now is when I am reading your sweet letters

Well Sweet Heart I am still on the Lottie. When I one of the condisions that and I think if I dont that when we are ready

we can start in comfortbly and I can see you my Darling oftener and not loose any time. Joss only offered me $27. and by the time I paid expenses I and I couldent get to see you sweet heart at all.

The first trip we make after we come off the ways that I can get off I want to come down. and bring the ring. that just reminds me have you a ring that fits your finger, you are not wearing. if so dont you think it would be better off than some that have more than they can spend. Yes Darling

I know only well that the boys are plentiful down there. but my heart tells me that if, My Darling loves me she will be true, and that they can't take you from me, I am jelous, good and jelous for the first time in my life. I hate my self for it but I can't help it. But my pleasure is to see or know of your sweet self enjoying and having a nice time
Well if the Lord took you away from me, I would have the consolation of knowing that you was happy. and that some day I could your finger now, if you will let it go on, but I am going to have the pleasure of putting it on, and hearing you promise to be mine. it will tye us then more closely if you are in earnest.

Now Dearest do you really think your heart would break, you know a heart is said to be hard to break.
How many times have you looked for the Stars Sweet heart. I can see them now right through the companion looking for them. I don't

I forgive you this time Tishie.
I hate to hear of your working out, if I had my way you would not work _out_ or any where, but we all have a little work to do. I should think

splendid and that they wouldn't bother us. as they can make the most of what they want. But that you would be company for her. and for for you and yet be two seprate familys one not bothering the other.
as far as my being away
if there is any chance of making a living and being at home at night
I will do it, but if not why you will not be a loser. But I think I can get up enough Yankey shrewdness to make a good living and be at home
the best part of the time,
I want to go to a growing town some where. and I

disgusted, and if the are exceptions {you sweet heart} feels me, then you can imagine what a place
a woman will have in my mind and heart
Well Dishu if your Mother is right a bout fault. I am glad she didn't love me, for she give me the chance, to find one who did, and one better in every Respect,—
I still do wish if we were rich I could give you a better home, and an easyer time, but as you say if we can be comfortable and happy well will be

go below. We sailed all night with a head wind and a steady sain rain. so Sweet heart I will have to beg you to pardon me this time. and I will try and not let it happen again. Well Dearest I will now try to answer your questions in your letter. and then if I can keep my eyes open long enough I will scratch a few questions and what news there is to write. nothing is news to me unless it concerns my Darling Sweet Letisha. I wouldnt write a line to any one else, except my Darling. for a hundred a line to night as bad and sleepy as I feel.

I like to hear her say thoes sweet and delightfull words I love you Charlie.

Thank you my own generous Darling for saying you like the plums, I know my Tisha can get along with the folks, you have all ready made a deep impresion with them, Mama is heighly pleased with your letter, and says you are a different girl than some she knows and that from the tone of your letter, if we stick to what I have said and what you wrote ~~that~~ we [illegible] you and I would get along.

Well Pishu I hope your time is not as short as you say your pencil is. dont say any thing a bout Mistakes
I wish they were kisses and that every letter was one and I had the chance to get them to night.
I would give a good deal just for one to night. but if you wasnt sharp it would be one hundred be fore you got rid of me. Pishe you have got to promise to pay me 5 kisses every night out side what I just naturaly take. to pay for being so stingie when I was in Scranton last.
I am in hopes that when I write a gan. I will be working at my new Job but untill
I get settled I will get my mail from ~~Dad~~ Mrs Buck

Mud Flats. Fish River
Oct 6th 1900

My Own Sweet Darling One.
I received your loving sweet and welcome letter yesterday in town. and up to now I haven't had the chance to answer it
We arived in Mobile at 9 oclock yesterday morning and didnt even take time to tye up the sails, but went right to loading, and we didnt stop untill we left at dark and we had some passengers (Yankees) so you can imagine what a time I would have had trying to write and them asking a thousand and one questions even if the Weather had permitted me to one of my chanches is on a Dredge boat. I wonder if I could get on that dredge in Scranton. I wish I could.

I will have my teeth fixed. just to pleas you Peshu. I want to pleas you in every thing I can. Sweet heart I dont quite understand what your Mother ment by my being disgusted. and my fault. and about being sorry for me.

Well Sweet heart all things can happen, but forget my Darling I never could. your sweet self has entered my heart to stay and you are stamped in my mind never to be removed My heart belongs to you, and it is given up to you. never to be taking a way.

Those few words of yours My heart you it is a wonder some of them hasnt tried to buy me to start a show with.

I thought Cora & Jim were going to live in town and that he was going to run his boat.

I have got to sell my boat be fore the folk can move, it wont do to leave her on the beach.

You know sweet heart it is no pleasure for me to be separated so far from you, but work is a duty. and a duty that cant be shirked. and at present my work calls me here. No Dearest it wont all ways be this way if it is left for me to have the say so.

Pascagoula Democrat Star, January 24, 1896

News Item - MRS. JAMES MARTIN, accompanied by her invalid daughter, MISS ANNIE, of Barkley, was in town Saturday visiting friends. They were in route to New Orleans where the latter will be placed under medical treatment

Pascagoula Democrat Star, March , 1897

ANNIE MARTIN

DIED

At Martin's Bluff in this county on Sunday morning March 7, 1897, at 8 o'clock, MISS ANNIE MARTIN, daughter of the late JAMES MARTIN, and MARY MARTIN, aged 27 years.

Miss Annie was for many months a sufferer from that insidious disease consumption, but bore her sufferings with christian fortitude and calmly and resignedly awaited the summons that would call her from earth to the golden paved city of the New Jerusalem. The deceased was a strict member of the Baptist church and died in the full belief of a better and purer existance beyond this sphere. We deeply and truly sympathize in their loss of a daughter and sister.

The funeral took place Monday at 3 o'clock and the remains interred in the family burying ground at the old homestead.

Memories of Old Pascagoula

By UNCLE MARTIN

From the Star of August 1, 1877, we glean these news notes of historical interest:

Chancery court Monday.

There was a partial eclipse of the moon Thursday night of last week.

Thanks to Mme. Zulime Sarrazin for two pears weighing thirty ounces, beating those of last week seven ounces.

Mr. John J. Denmark, an old and respected citizen of this place, and father of our young friend Jeff, died at Montgomery, Ala., on Wednesday of last week. Mr. enmark had been suffering for several years with rheumatism, and was scarcely able to walk for months past. He was interred at Mobile.

The young lady or gentleman who lost a small lock of carroty hair, fastened with a small blue ribbon, the night of the entertainment for the Catholic cemetery, can receive information of the same by applying to Captain Valentine Delmas, who will deliver over the lock when the identity of the safe is proven.

The Star of August 4, 1877 records the death of a prominent resident: "A. A. Maginnis of New Orleans, but who owns a fine residence at Ocean Springs, died at the latter place last Sunday."

The Star of September 14, 1877, praiser a local baker thus: "Daniel Mansfield as a baker is unsurpassed. As a proof of which he sent to our office last week a fine cake, or which he will accept our thanks."

This personal appears in the Star of September 14, 1877: "We are pleased to see in our town on a visit our young friend Capt. John Y. Morgan, of the Schooner Eugenia. Johnny is as true a young salt as ever trod the deck of a vessel, and after his six month's absence looks as young and hearty as ever."

"Gen. Joe Davis gave us a call this week. He likes the looks of our town; says it is bound to be a business place." The Star of October 19, 1877.

Married—Raabe-Martin. On last Thursday, November 29, 1877, at the residence of the bride's father, by Rev. Dr. Dunlap, Mr. John Wm. Raabe to Miss Eley Jane Martin, of West Pascagoula, Miss. (New Orleans Times please copy.) The Star of December 7, 1877.

Raabe - Martin

"The carpenters are at work on the residence of Mr. Geo. Huggins, chief engineer of the water works. It will be completed within a few days." The Star of December 7, 1877.

Dear Else:

Talking with you this afternoon was reminescant of a nice visit with an old friend. You certainly gave me lots to think about. I did visit over in the Mobile, Pascagoula area, as well as the Mississippi gulf coast. Doug and Halley Luce were friends of mine (now divorced). But on to the subject at hand i.e. giving you some information I related over the telephone.

Josephine Adele Sumrall married William Albert Martin, at Martin's Bluff. They settled in New Orleans. Because of asthma they took a house in Slidell, then decided to live in Slidell. There were quite a few trains and commutting was no problem. But in 1909 a commuter train was wrecked by a fast-moving passenger train and William A. Martin, a commuter on that train, was killed.

Josephine Adele Martin, and her two young daughters stayed on. W.A. Martin was one of the original directors in the Bank of Slidell (formed in 1906). He and Mrs. Martin were two of the six (or eight) organizers of the First Baptist Church of Slidell.

Her two daughtes were Gladys Willie Martin, and Hazel Adele Martin. Gladys Martin, age 17, married October 3, 1911, to Theodore Johnson Eddins. Mr. Eddins was born at Barnett, Miss., and had lived in Slidell approximately five years. They had three children: ① Jane Adele Eddins, ② Gladys Martin Eddins and ③ William Theodore Eddins. Jane had three children: Theodore [1] Frank Street, [2] Jane Martin Street, and E. Ma~~c~~Intosh Street. McIntosh Their father was Dr. Richard McIntos~~s~~h Street.
Gladys married Edmond Abel Salassi and they had two daughters, Gladys and Susan.

I remember my Mother saying her Mother's maiden name was Muse, and she thought the Muse ~~gra~~nddaughter married in South Carolina and then they moved to Mississippi .

Bill Eddins

Add Josephine Adele Sumrall-Martin had three sisters. They were Alice (I believe) married a George lived in Stonewall, Ms.; Addie who married John S. Dabbs, Quitman, Ms. She had sons named John S. Dabbs, Jr., and Thomas Dabbs. The daughter, named Lucille, married a Merrill and lived at Meridian.

Gladys Martin Eddins attended Newcomb, majoring in piano; Jane Adele Eddins also attended Newcomb and majored in art. Wm. T. Eddins graduated from Tulane with a Bachelor of Bus. Adm., and after five years as a Naval Officer, returned to Tulane for his Masters. Theodore Johnson Eddins was President of the Bank of Slidell for over fifty years. Wm. T. Eddins worked in the bank for thirty years as Senior Vice President. The major income of both Eddinses was from

EDITED BY MRS. M. McDANIEL.

Among the many sad events of the past week was the death of the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Pechon of Bonfouca which occured on the 5th, at their beautiful bayou home.

Little Miss Martha Prevost entertained a numter of friends Wednesday, the 11th, it being her twelftn birthday. Dainty refreshments were served, and games and music were enjoyed.

Mrs. G. S. Huges, of South Point, La., was the guest of Miss Ella Salmen, Wednesday.

Miss Sarah L. Hughes spent Saturday and Sunday with her mother in New Orleans.

A large crowd from here attended various plays in New Orleans, Saturday. Among those present were, Misses Gladys Liddle, Dora Everitt, Vivian Comfort and R. Bollinger.

Several Surprise parties were enjoyed by the young folks the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Abel spent Saturday in New Orleans and witnessed "The Square Deal."

We are pleased to learn that Mrs. J. Powers has recovered from her recent illness.

T. J. Hand was one of the passengers on the wrecked train Wednesday.

out that Mr. Jake Salmen had succumbed to his injuries, and words fail to describe the awful shadow and gloom that was depicted on every face, for I can truthfully state that Mr. Jake Salmen is loved by all, and known by every one from the highest official to the little darky that handles brick. What a blessed releif when it was learned that the rumor was false, and that he was recovering. Many, many prayers went up to our Father's throne that life of the lumberman might be spared, regardless of class or creed. Even the aged colored mamies with their kerchiefs on their heads murmured a fervent "Thank Lawd." Crowds thronged to meet every north bound train.

The funeral of the late W. A. Martin, was the largest our town ever witnessed. Mr. Martin was a director of the Slidell Bank, a member of the School Board, one of the stockholders of the Slidell Store Co., a member of the Baptist Church, a true christian, a devoted father and husband, a member of the Masonic Lodge, a member of the Acorn Lodge W. O. W. of New Orleans. All of the business houses closed until after 5 p. m. The funeral took place

Brookhaven has accepted a position with the Slidell Store Co.

Dr. J. K. Griffith, passed through here Sunday en route to Hattisburg Miss.

A telegraph message was received from Prof. T. H. Harris stating that all the requirements had been met and the Slidell School has been placed on the approved list of State High Schools.

Miss Marion Beane, of New Orleans, came over Monday to assume the position of art and music supervisor. Miss Beane is a graduate of Newcomb Art School, and comes well recomended.

A number of young folks enjoyed a surprise party Saturday evening, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Whichard, at the Lawn Place.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Willis, of Pearl River, La., attended the funeral of the late W. A. Martin, here.

Miss Gertrude Mullings spent Sunday with relatives in Covington, La.

Mr. Aby Halter and Warren Newman, or New Orleans, spent Sunday here, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Newman.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Bousquet spent Tuesday in New Orleans, on a visit to Mr. Bousquet's father, who is quite ill at present.

An eloquent sermon was delivered at the Church of Our Lady of Lourdes, Sunday, by Rev. Father Bernard.

One would have to be in Slidell to understand the shadow that fell over our town when the first news of the wreck reached here on 11th inst. The big building of the Slidell Store Co. closely resembled a tomb. People came and went with white scared faces speaking in hushed frightened tones. Our remains were conveyed to the Baptist Church where the Pastor, Rev. A. Finch assisted by J. E. Brakefield and J. D. Bowen, officiated. After the ceremonies were completed the remains were taken in charge by the W. O. W. and conveyed to Greenwood Cemetery, where the beautiful ritual of W. O. W. was read. The Masonic Lodge also marched in ranks but took no part in the cermonies. The respect and esteem that was paid Mr. Martin was shown in language more eloquent than words. His vacant chair was in usual place near the pulpit. Over the back of the chair hung a large bow of crepe. Beautiful floral offerings completely covered the new-made grave. After the ceromonies were completed and flowers placed, a beautiful hymn was sung, which floated low, soft and sweet on the crisp evening air, "God be with you till we meet again" breathing a sad farewell, yet containing a cherished hope of a future meeting in the presence of our divine and Master Jesus Christ.

Dear Pat:

Excuse my delay in answering your not of Jan 27, but there just isn't enough hours in the day to do all I want and have to do.

I have enclosed a group sheet on my ggg grandfather Daniel Martin. As far as I know he never lived in Perry, Jones or Wayne. But they were in Greene Co. Most of them settled in Lauderdale Co. and a few in Clarke. One son, Wm. Wallace Martin settledin Wayne Co. Of course, my records are far from complete. I have my Baxter family in Greene Co. too. I feel Isreal Baxter must have died there and since the court house buried I have not had much luck.

Let me know if I can contribute something and just how you wish it tobe.

Sincerely,

Dear Ms. Strickland:

In doing research in Wayne County, I found your book, Who Married Whom" and on page 125, I find my LUCIUS C. MARTIN family.

Some of your information is new for me and some does not agree with what I have. Could you give references on your information? For instance, I have MARY J. b. Al ca. 1813 - wife, and WILLIAM and OLIVER P. are reversed on succeeding censi. I have ROMANZA as ROAN-ROWAN-ROWANE and a letter from a lady with ROMANCE - never could make it clear from the censi.

FRANCIS HOUGH married FANNIE HUTCHINSON b. Al. in Wayne County, MS 23 Feb 1875 - moved to Texas and died in Ft. Worth 17 June 1905. LUCIUS CARY b. Nov 1853 m. ADDA (ADELINE) CATER in Temple, Tx 7 June 1892 - d. 15 Aug 1927. LUCIUS CARY & ADDA MARTIN were my grandparents, and I'm having an awfully hard time trying to trace the family.

I'm happy to pay for any information you can send me.

Thank you,

Their son Caleb Martin, married Lucinda (Breland) and they had (6) six children and my Grandmother, Malinda (Martin) Herring was the 5th child and she lived off of hwy. 29 south of New Augusta, approx. 5 miles and she was the Mother of Demaris,my mother.

I then began to search for the Martins, I found that Lucinda was a daughter of Joseph & Celie Breland that lived south on hwy 29 a little farther down. and then I began to try to locate who her husband was, and I met Acker Martin that knew some and then I found a page from Grandmother Herring's bible that gave a description of a place that he was buried only it gave a listing of the numbers and no Cemetery. From being around the Military, knew that this was a Military Cemeter some where. This also ment that he must have been in the Civil War and I got on the Internet and after 5 hours of searching, I found him and his other two brothers in the same location and were at this same cemetery. Chalmette National Cemetery in Chalmette, Louisiana. I went down and looked in the Office of the cemetery and Found where their location was and looked and took pictures of their Markers. All except William and they did not have one and they did not know exactly where he was.

Subject:	schooner William Martin

Else:
I did some checking in what records I have of local schooners, and I came up with the following details on the schooner William Martin. I will be able to provide further details later on when I get copies of her complete file from the National Archives.

William Martin, official number 81402 was built at Grasshopper Point, MS in 1892. As of 1893, she was registered at the port Shieldsboro, MS, measuring 50 feet long, 22 feet wide, with a depth of hold of 4 feet and 26 gross tons.

Sometime during the mid 1890s, she was sold, apparently. As of 1899, she was documented at the port of New Orleans, measuring 64.6 feet long, 23 feet wide, with a depth of hold of 5.3 feet, and 41 gross tons. She carried this measurement for the remainder of her career. The difference in the measurement can be accounted for by a change in the Bureau of Navigation's change in measurement policy in 1894.

William Martin remained registered at the port of New Orleans until she was apparently sold again sometime during the period 1904-1910. In 1910 she reappeared in the port of Gulfport records. During this period, she carried a crew of 4.

The first mention of her owner came in 1925. She was registered at Gulfport, and her owner was W.H. Westfall of Vancleave. He was also listed as her owner in 1927.

She was sold again, between 1928 and 1930. In 1930, she was registered at New Orleans, and her owner was Dudley H. Weaver of Covington, LA.

The William Martin's ultimate fate is unknown at this time, but her papers should indicate what finally became of her. I hope to have them in hand somtime this summer.

Do you know anything of the Westfall family? Are there any descendants still in the area? They may know more about the charcoal industry or about the William Martin. I get the feeling that they owned some schooners themselves.

I don't know if I ever sent you the corrections on my MARTIN line in "Who Married Whom" Wayne Co., MS. So thought I better do that for the future.

MARTIN, LUCIUS C. (CARY?) VA 1797 m. MARY J. (HOUGH?) 1813
(There was no MARY J. dau. b. ca. 1828)

RICHARD J. must have married more than once - I have him with SARAH on the census and a marr. to SARAH KELLUM 3/1/1852 Lawrence Co. - you have HARRIET (where does this come from?) and he is later married to MARTHA L. McB. PEAVY 10/14/1871 Mobile. He has a nephew named KILLAM or KELLUM, living with him.

PINKNEY T. d. in War Yazoo City Apr 15, 1863
OLIVER P. and WILLIAM must have d. in War as my gr-father LUCIUS CARY MARTIN said his bros. d. in the War.
WILLIAM and OLIVER were reversed on 2 censuses but the years appeared to be ca. 1838 and 1842. There may have been a dau. born between 1835 and 1840 as she appears on 1840 census but I have found no other record of her so she probably d. before 1850.

FRANCIS HOUGH to AL, back to MS and TX

LUCIUS CARY to TX mar. ADALINE CATER b. 1869 TX

I think all the rest of the entry on pg. 126 is correct as far as I know.

Thank you for all the work you and Ms. Edwards (and helpers) have done in trying to recreate the lost records of Wayne Co.

Jane Beard

SHARING KNOWLEDGE — Else Martin is well acquainted with the materials on genealogy and local history and she is eager to share her knowledge.

Teaching family history

By BOBBIE THIBODEAUX
Special to The Community Press

HURLEY — Helping people discover who they are through tracing their family gives Else Martin great satisfaction. As the genealogy and local history librarian at the Pascagoula Library, she enjoys the daily challenges of her job.

"It involves everything from helping students with projects to sharing information with researchers," she said. "I help people find relatives, from parents to children to ancestors. The requests change every day."

People who are doing family research really want to know, she said. When a search yields results, she shares the researcher's pleasure. "It is so fulfilling to know you helped someone find family."

Born of first-generation American parents, Martin grew up in the Harleston community, north of Hurley. "All four of my grandparents were born in Denmark, where family records are preserved. The joy my parents had in sharing family records with me is helped me realize early how important family is."

Else Martin

Her father's parents came to America as newlyweds in 1887. Her mother's parents met and went to school together in West Denmark, Wis. Martin's parents met in Mississippi at the new Danish colony of Granly in north Jackson County.

Her father, Hans Nygaard, had grown up in a Danish community in Texas, reared as a southern Danish-American. Her mother, Herdis, was a widow with two sons, Allen and Harvey Hedegaard.

"My parents married in Granly. Theirs was the first wedding there after the community was established."

Granly, which means "evergreen shelter," survived as a small colony, Martin said. Descendants of the families who lived there have a reunion every December with a traditional Danish Christmas celebration.

Growing up, Martin absorbed the family history told to her by her parents and her one surviving grandmother, who lived with Martin's family during World War II.

"My grandmother was an avid reader and writer, an artist with needlework. She came to America as a 16-year old newlywed. I used to sit by her for hours and watch her sew. I was a privileged child to grow up in a wonderful dual setting."

Proud as she is of her Danish heritage, Martin is equally glad she was born and reared in Jackson County.

"I'm happy I grew up in this environment. The people I knew growing up are wonderful friends. I get delight from working with these families."

When Martin attended high school in Moss Point, she had a 55-mile round trip every day. "It was a wonderful experience to be in the band and be a part of a good school."

Other than her husband and four children, the biggest thrill of her life was a trip to Denmark. "I rented a car and drove out to find all the old farm homes of my four grandparents. I met relatives and visited the church where they were baptized and married."

Her ancestors were educators in Denmark. "One helped write the

Denmark Constitution in 1845. They founded the first free school in Denmark. The first thing they did when they went to Wisconsin was establish a school and church."

When she visited the school in Denmark founded by her ancestors, she was taken to the teachers' lounge where the faculty was having lunch. "There were pictures of my ancestors on the walls. The techniques they used proved to be down to earth and realistic."

Finding the places that had affected her grandparents' lives made the family history she'd been told more real for Martin. "It all helped me to understand myself. I remembered the things my parents had taught us and realized how I was enriched to be in that family."

Martin, whose love of family history motivated her to join the Jackson County Genealogy Society, served as president of the group for several years. She is also editor of The Journal, published by the society and mailed to libraries, archives, and members all over the U.S.

Currently she is compiling a book, "Paper Trail: a Time Line of History as Recorded in North East Central Jackson County." She is also working on a collection of oral interviews called "Talk of the Coast."

Martin is married to her high school sweetheart, John, who is retired from Ingalls. When he earned his degree in engineering at Mississippi State, she said she also earned a PHT — Putting Hubby Through. They have four children.

Martin's enthusiasm about local and family history makes her generous with her time and resources. "It's lots of fun to collect and to share information."

NEW SCHEDULE POSTAL RATES IS IN EFFECT

New Stamps Received at Local Office. Rural Mail Delivery Route Starts.

New issues of postage stamps showed their faces at the Pascagoula postoffice Wednesday morning, and a new schedule of mailing rates went into effect. This is Uncle Sam's way of raising money for increasing salaries of postal employees throughout the country.

No more will the popular post card, bought in the store, travel to its destination for one cent, and no more will the two-ounce envelope package with the circular inside, ride on the penny-green stamp. A two-cent stamp must be pasted on the post-card, and the latest product of the postoffice department, a 1½-cent stamp, will carry the one and two ounce package.

No change is made in the two-cent letter package, as applied to all first class mail, and the humble one-cent postal card, bought at the postoffice ready for use, will continue its status as a one-cent card.

It might be explained that a "postal" card is the kind sold at the postoffice for a penny, while a "post" card is the picture-kind travelers buy at stores to send back home to friends to say they are "having a good time, wish you were here."

Registry fees are increased from ten cents to fifteen cents, and parcel post special delivery stamps will be provided.

Postmaster Lindinger received a consignment of the new 1½-cent stamps early in the week, but has not yet received the new ½-cent stamps. The 1½-cent stamps are light brown in color and bear a cut of the late President Warren G. Harding, who died three years ago.

There are other changes in the postal rates, which have been given publicity, but none of them will work a great hardship on any particular class of patrons.

Rural Route Starts.

A new rural mail route out of Pascagoula was inaugurated Wednesday morning, when Marshall Crawford, carrier, took up his duties and will deliver mail to persons residing along the route between Pascagoula and the Alabama line near Arena. This service is expected to have a splendid effect in developing the territory served, and farmers will have almost the same advantages as townspeople.

Postoffice Discontinued.

Notice was received at the Pascagoula postoffice Thursday morning that the postoffice at Arena would be discontinued April 30. The people residing in this community will be served by the new rural route. No other postoffices will be abolished, and mail should be addressed as before the route established.

FARMER IS SHOT BY HIS NEIGHBOR

Ben B. Martin in Mobile Hospital and George Martin Held in County Jail.

A telephone message received by Wm. M. Colmer, county attorney, Thursday morning stated that Mr. Ben B. Martin died at 10:10 o'clock Thursday morning at the Providence Infirmary in Mobile. The message was from the dead man's son, who is a prominent lawyer residing near Montgomery. County officers would not comment on any change in the charges against George Martin, who will be given a preliminary hearing in a few days.

Ben B. Martin, aged 76, a prominent farmer and landowner, residing near the Tanner-Williams settlement in the northeastern part of the county near the Alabama line, is in the Providence Infirmary in Mobile in a serious condition with several buckshot wounds in the head, while George Martin, 30 years old, is held in the Pascagoula jail charged with shooting with intent to kill. The men are not related.

The shooting of the elder Martin occurred at 7 o'clock Monday morning on the farm of the aged man in a tenant house that he had leased to C. L. Gully, who accompanied the wounded man to Mobile in company with Dr. L. T. Lane, a physician.

According to information reaching Pascagoula the elder Martin and George Martin had some trouble Saturday about hiring a negro. On Saturday night, it is said, Ben Martin is claimed to have gone to the home of the other Martin, forced his way into the house and struck the wife of the young man.

Monday morning the quarrel was renewed. The aged man, according to statements, drew a revolver and pulled it on George Martin. George asked the older man to put up the revolver which he refused to do and continued to advance, as he did so George Martin picked up a shotgun loaded with buckshot and fired one barrel. The older Martin fell to the floor badly wounded.

George Martin, after the shooting, notified Sheriff Ezell, and Deputy Brown went to Martin's house and Martin surrendered. He was brought to Pascagoula and placed in jail.

Monday night County Attorney Wm. M. Colmer and Sheriff A. W. Ezell went to Mobile to obtain a statement from the wounded man, but upon arriving there they found him delirous and not in condition to talk. County officers will await the result of Ben Martin's wounds before pressing charges against George Martin.

LARGE COMPANY TO MAKE OFFER MUNICIPAL POWER PLANT.

Announcement was made Thursday noon by Mayor J. R. Watts that the city council had invited a company of established reputation and high financial rating to make a survey of the municipal light and water plant and submit offers to the city to buy the plant outright and continue operations or make recommendations for change of equipment or installation of additional equipment that would lower cost of productions or make offer to manufacture current themselves and sell wholesale to the city for distribution to consumers.

Mayor Watts did not give the name of the persons or company he was negotiating with. No contract was entered into, other than that the company make investigations and submit propositions for consideration. Any offer to be made must be contingent on the actual demonstration, and the city being permitted to take back plant if contract is not carried out.

No information has been received from the Mississippi Power Company as to what offer they would make for the Pascagoula plant.

GAUTIER HEADS THE ROTARY CLUB

H. B. Everitt, Jr., and James I. Ford Become Vice President and Secretary Respectively.

New officers took up their duties with the Rotary club last Wednesday, when John R Watts, who has served as president for the past year yielded his chair to Hermes F Gautier, who will head the organization for the next twelve months. At the same time H. B. Everitt, Jr., relinquished the duties of secretary-treasurer to James I. Ford and took assumed a new office as vice president of the club.

The transfer of duties was carried out with little ceremony, and with brief statements by retiring and new officials. Mr. Watts warmly thanked his co-workers for the honor of having headed the club, saying that it had been a pleasure to serve, and asked for continued help and co-operation with the incoming administration.

In assuming the presidency, M Gautier sounded a keynote of work and activity for the coming year, pointing out that the Mississippi Coast was on the eve of a great development, and that in a very few weeks we could expect great things to take place in all Coast cities. He reminded the members of their duties as Rotarians and reiterated that the ideal of Rotary was to instill into is members the spirit of service which would be reflected in any community activity in which they were interested.

The new officers were elected at the first meeting of the board of directors held last Wednesday night. The directors were elected at last week's meeting, and from their mem-

NEGRO WIELDS KNIFE

The first abolished slavery, the second defined citizenship and seeks to prevent the state from discriminating against certain classes of citizens, and the fifteenth declares the right of citizens to vote shall not be denied or abridged on account of "race color or previous condition of servitude."

The sixteenth amendment in 1913 authorized congress to levy a tax on incomes, and the seventeenth, also added in 1913, provided for the election of United States senators by direct vote of the people. The eighteenth amendment, effective January 16, 1920, made the United States and all its possessions prohibition territory.

Many Absentees.

The attendance record of the club was shattered by the absence of five members who were out of the city on business. E. H. Mayo had as his guest, James Cameron of Brooklyn, N. Y., who extended the Rotarians an invitation to call on him in his northern home. J. C. Allred introduced A. Johnson of Atlanta, Ga., as his guest.

BISHOP GEROW INVITES INSTRUCTION LEAGUE HERE.

The Right Rev. Richard O. Gerow, D. D., Bishop of Natchez, has invited the Rev. John M. Lyons, S. J., of Chicago and founder of the Catholic Instruction league to visit the diocese with a view to establish the league.

The motto of the Catholic Instruction League is:

"They that instruct many unto justice shall shine as stars for all eternity." Daniel, Ch. XII, V. 3.

The main object of the Catholic Instruction league is to instruct in Christian Doctrine, Catholic children whom the parochial schools cannot reach, and also working boys and girls and even adults who may be in need of such instruction. Free religious instruction is, therefore, the chief object of the league.

A secondary object is to provide, as far as possible, wholesome indoor [illegible] for our young people, and thus safeguard their [illegible] today and the great part that they play in the purchase of goods for their family use. Naturally, they want to get as much for their money as they can, but if their father or husbands make their money in Jackson county it is a civic duty to spend their money here.

"What a calamity it would be if the bread-winner were to come home some night and say, 'Well mother, the boss has let me go because he can hire a cheaper man from Mobile or New Orleans so I have to hunt some other work.'

"All of the hopes for the future would be blasted because the boss went buying in some other city when the goods at home were better than those coming from some other city. The boss would be a very poor citizen if he were to indulge in any such unfair practices.

"Suppose that your husband is a physician who has located in Jackson county to give his skill and knowledge to the needs of our people, and contributed through taxation to the building and support of our municipal enterprises—if your neighbor needed a doctor, how would you feel if your husband were ignored and one was brought from a distant city?

"If your husband is a dentist, would you like the people of Jackson county to ignore him and go elsewhere for treatment.

"If your husband is a lawyer, a mechanic or skilled in any other trade or profession, isn't it perfectly natural for you to expect his services to be sought, engaged and paid for in Jackson county.

"No matter what your husband's business or profession or interests may be you expect the support of Jackson county people. That is natural and it is right. If you buy your goods from a mail-order house or another city, ignoring the local merchants, the local merchant is unquestionably justified in feeling exactly as you must feel in such instances as those cited above.

"Years ago it was the custom to produce right in the home community the things required for home use. But as Jackson county grew, bringing greater wealth and greater comforts to your household, it became necessary for other householders to establish stores where all could buy conveniently and economically.

"Today, therefore, the retail merchants of Jackson county are established for the sole purpose of supplying the people of Jackson county with the things they need at a fair price and in a satisfactory way.

"Now, I must go to sleep," said "Bill" Dollar, "for tomorrow is going to be another busy day, but I would sleep much better if I knew that everything needed by Jackson county people was to be bought from the merchants of Jackson county."

BEAR CATS WIN AGAIN.

The Bear Cats defeated the Moss Point Tigers Saturday by a score of 5 to 2. Features of the game were two-baggers by G. Clark and Seymour, and a three-bagger by O'Brien for the Bear Cats, and a running one hand catch by G. Clark.

Continuing, Mr. Blodgett says "Michigan tourist season lasts perhaps about three months, and is estimated to bring into the state one hundred million dollars. My idea is that it would pay Mississippi to look well into the business of hard surfaced roads. In Michigan, the upkeep on a first class cement road is very slight."

It is very interesting to get an angle on the development of Mississippi from an outsider. It usually reflects what other outsiders might consider and where they are interested enough to make comparisons or draw conclusions we should be interested in listening and considering them ourselves.

MAN WHO SHOT NEIGHBOR IS HELD FOR JURY.

George Martin of the Tanner-Williams community in the northeastern part of the county, was bound over for the grand jury when given a hearing in justice of the peace court last Thursday on a charge of shooting with intent to kill. His bond was fixed by Justice Chas. E. Chidsey at $1,500, which he failed to make.

The charge against George Martin grew out of an affray which took place April 13 on the farm of Ben B. Martin in the Tanner-Williams community, when George and Ben Martin became involved in a quarrel over the hiring of a negro. It is said that Ben Martin threatened George Martin with a revolver, and George Martin seized a shotgun, firing once and fatally wounded Ben Martin. The injured man died the following Thursday in a Mobile hospital. They were not related.

Ben B. Martin was 76 years old and was a native of Alabama. He had resided in Jackson county only a short while and was engaged in extensive farming operations.

Negroes Held for Jury.

Irene Budro, Harry Budro and Adelaide Smith, all negroes and principals and accessories in a brawl which took place at Pickwick park Monday night, April 13, in Pascagoula, and resulted in the death of Isabelle Stanley, were bound over to await action of the grand jury on charges of manslaughter. Irene Budro, who is said to have used a knife on the Stanley woman, is held under $1,500 bond, and the other two under bonds in amounts of $1,000 each. They have been unable to make the bonds and are held in jail.

KELL AND CLINTON WIN FIRST PLACES IN STATE CONTEST.

Pascagoula athletes won two first places in the state field meet held at A. & M. College last week, when Robert Kell came in first in the 440-yard dash and Clarence Clinton first in the high jump. Clinton took second place in the 100-yard dash.

These young athletes were the only ones entered from Pascagoula. They had previously been selected to represent the Coast district in the regional meet held in Gulfport two weeks ago.

HI LILY, HI LO — Amy Martin, 11, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Martin of Quinn Street in Pascagoula, enjoys one of the 16 blooms and buds on this lily. The 16 are the most blossoms from a single plant ever seen by her father, who has been in the florist business more than 20 years. "Usually there are only six or seven blooms on a single lily," Martin said, "though I've seen as many as 11 on one. But this is the most ever." Looks like spring has definitely sprung!

Flower shop tradition carries on for 50 years

By DON BROADUS
Mississippi Press Staff

When Joe and Rose Martin opened a little flower shop on Krebs Avenue in Pascagoula, they were just carrying on a family tradition that came to Mississippi via Ireland, Chicago and Louisiana.

Now, 50 years later, Pugh's Florist remains a strong part of that family tradition which was started by Mrs. Martin's father, John Pugh, an Irish immigrant.

"John Pugh came from Ireland to Chicago where he got a job in a greenhouse," said Martin, who at age 84, remains active in the Pascagoula shop on Market Street.

"He later moved to Ponchatoula, La., married a second generation German, Molly Sheafer, and opened his own greenhouse."

Martin said Pugh produced vegetables for market and flowers for self-satisfaction. "He grew flowers before there was a market for them," he said.

When the Martins opened their shop in December, 1945, they named in it honor of "Papa Pugh."

"I was working at International Paper Company at the time," Martin said. "There was a need for a florist in Pascagoula. We were busy from the start. I soon had to take a leave of absence from my job to help run the shop. It was more than one person could handle. It soon became more than two people could handle."

The business, like its chief product, blossomed.

The shop was moved to a larger building, formerly Lewis Furniture, on Pascagoula Street, and later, in 1952, to its present location on Market Street.

Pugh's Florist was, in every sense of the word, for many years a family business run by Mr. and Mrs. Martin and their children.

"We all worked in the shop," said daughter Joanne Foster. "We still like to get together on holidays and play in the shop.

"It's a beautiful business because you touch lives from birth to death. You share your customers' joys and sorrows.

"I was 10 when they opened the shop. I remember it vividly. I also remember father making a large arrangements in the living room before we opened the shop. He used flowers grown by Papa Pugh in Ponchatoula."

Martin credited his wife, Rose, with providing the inspiration that made Pugh's a thriving business. "She was the big dog," he said. "She kept things going. I wish she were still here."

JOE MARTIN SR., still makes daily appearances at Pugh's Flower Shop on Market Street, which he helped start in Pascagoula 50 years ago.

Mrs. Martin died in January.

Pugh's Florist is now under the management of the Martins' son, James, and his wife, Rita. They have eight to 10 full-time employees.

The elder Martin still makes daily appearances at the shop.

"Papa Martin checks every order to make sure they are right," one of the employees said. "He is still very active in the business."

The Martin children are Mrs. Foster; Roselyn Richard of Baton Rouge; Marilyn Bullis of Pascagoula: Charles Martin, deceased; Joe Martin Jr., Jackson County circuit clerk; James Martin; and Maureen Martin, director of the school for children with language disorders at the University of Southern Mississippi, Hattiesburg.

The Pugh family operates florists in Louisiana in Ponchatoula, Baton Rouge, Bogalusa and Hammond.

Legion members hear of tales from Arabian Nights

"Tales from the Arabian Nights" was the theme of the American Legion Post 160 Carnival ball Jan. 12 at the Veterans of Foreign War Post Home in Pascagoula.

Kathy McGovern of Gautier and W.D. "Bill" White of Pascagoula were crowned as their Majesties, Queen Ruth XXII and King Alexander XXII.

Accepting tickets at the door were Virginia Beckham and Norma Kihyet who presented each guest with a 1991 commemorative doubloon.

Hosts Ed Beckham, Chester Lane, Cecil Leslie and John Szymonik escorted guests into the hall which was elaborately decorated in keeping with the theme.

A pictorial panorama of Arabian dancing girls, sultans, genies, palm trees, arabesques and camels adorned the walls. Twinkling stars were enhanced with blue gossamer. Colorful flying carpets manned by genies completed the ceiling decorations.

The stage was transformed into a gold arabesque featuring a huge gold lamp from which smoke emerged upward ending at the ceiling where a giant genie appeared. The red velvet throne was flanked by gold balustrades, gold palm trees, elaborate peacocks and gold urns filled with glittering fronds.

Emcee Joe Peetz introduced the retiring 1990 royalty, John Glover and Patricia Nelson as their Majesties King Alexander XXI and Queen Ruth XXI who made their final promenade to the throne to await the new rulers.

The emcee began the program by relating the story of how the 1,001 tales of the Arabian nights were told by a lovely Arabian girl to her husband each night. Court members depicted characters from each of the stories.

Introduction of the court began with the presentation of Nell Fulton and Marty Green costumed as the lovely storyteller Scherazade and her husband King Shahriar.

Chuck Burdine and Gaynell Martin portrayed characters from the well-known tale of "Aladdin and the Magic Lamp." The emcee related the story of "Sinbad the Sailor" introducing Doug Peetz as Sinbad escorting Renee Cherpak.

The story of "Ali Baba and the Forty Thieves" was unfolded with Jim Epting entering as Ali Baba escorting Susan Pate as a slave girl. The story of "The King and the Magic Horse" was brought to life as Oscar Joachim entered with his queen Carolyn Stegall.

The comical story of the "Caliph and the Cucumbers" was told with R.J. Peterman entering as the caliph escorting Kay Martin.

The audience was delighted by the entrance of "Ahab the Arab" along with his camel "Clyde" and the love of his life "Fatima." Frank and Janice Matkins entertained the guests with their pantomime of Ray Steven's rendition of "Ahab the Arab."

The story of "Hassim and the Serpent Queen" was relived as Lynn Presley entered as the Greek boy who met and was saved from death by the serpent queen portrayed by Sherrie Clymer.

A special treat for the audience was the entrance of the last couple who appeared from a giant decorated bottle in a puff of smoke. The genies were portrayed by Al Cherpack and Pauline Hudson.

Following the presentation of the court members, their Majesties were presented to their subjects. Queen Ruth wore a train of blue velvet adorned with gold sequin fleurs de lis and featuring a gold sequined American Legion emblem centered on the train. The gown of white satin featured a full skirt with tiny pearls enhancing the hemline, and the bodice was overlaid with lace and topped with tiny pearls and iridescent sequins. Her white sequined mask featured white plumes with white sequins on the droplet of net.

Mrs. McGovern is a native of Pascagoula and is a life member of American Legion Auxiliary Unit 160, serving her second term as its president. She and her husband, Richard, reside in Gautier and are the parents of four daughters and seven grandchildren. She is employed with Litton Data Systems.

His Majestry entered the ball in a matching blue velvet train also featuring the gold fleur de lis motif and Legion emblem. With his suit of white tails, White wore a white top hat and a mask of gold lame'.

White is a native of Columbia, Miss. and has resided in Pascagoula for 23 years. He is a life member of Legion Post 160 and has held the offices of adjutant and commander. He and his wife Sybil are parents of three daughters and six grandchildren. Mr. White is employed with South Central Bell and is presently serving as councilman for the City of Pascagoula.

Following the unmasking and coronation, the royal couple exchanged gifts and greeted their subjects with the traditional champagne toast. Presiding over the champagne table were Christine Lee, Gladys Bassett, Ed Beckham and John Szymonik.

The program concluded with the grand march, as court members tossed beads to the guests. This was followed by the royal dance and the traditional call out dance. Guests then danced to the music of The Reservations of Mobile, Ala.

Prior to the ball, Her Majesty entertained the court at a cocktail party presided over by Mary Arkle. Members of the court received gifts from their Majesties at the party.

Immediately following the ball, His Majesty requested the presence of all guests at the royal breakfast at the VFW Post Home.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Martin Jr.

OLV scene of wedding

Leslie Lee Colville became the bride of Roy M. Martin Jr. in an afternoon ceremony April 29 at Our Lady of Victories Catholic Church, with the Rev. Patrick McDermott officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Colville of Moss Point, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R.M. Martin Sr. of Pascagoula.

Mrs. Henry Lawrence presented piano music for the double ring, candlelight service, and vocal selections were offered by Kevin Benefield and Dona Stringfellow. Mrs. L.E. "Bud" Phillips directed the ceremony.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore white marquisette and taffeta with a round neckline, bordered with wide lace ruffles falling softly over the shoulders. The fitted Basque bodice was appliqued with lace, re-embroidered with peals. The full overskirt was bordered with full lace ruffles extending to an eight-foot train. A fingertip veil of illusion was appliqued with lace and fell from a small lace cap encrusted with pearls. She carried a bouquet of white roses and blue satin ribbons, centered with a single perfect white orchid.

Kaplan-Martin vows repeated

Lisa Rochelle Kaplan became the bride of Ernest William Martin Oct. 19 in an afternoon ceremony at Our Lady of Victories Catholic Church of Pascagoula, with the Rev. Patrick McDermott officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anton Kaplan and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Martin, all of Pascagoula.

Music for the double ring vows was provided by pianist and soloist Kevin Benefield. Martha Wall, aunt of the bridegroom, and Lillian Linton, aunt of the bride, directed the wedding.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore formal beaded silk Venise lace, touched with Brussels lace and tissue taffeta. The beaded lace bodice was designed with a mandarin collar, deep yoke of English net worked with a cameo of the lace, and a scoop neckline.

Leg o'mutton sleeves of beaded lace on taffeta, worked with iridescents, completed the fitted bodice. The A-line skirt and attached court train ended in scallops of lace.

Godets of beaded lace were used on the front and sides of the train, adding a fullness to its sweep.

A Juliet cap of lace caught at the crown a fingertip veil of illusion, trimmed with Venise lace and accented with seed pearls.

She carried cascading silk roses, lilies of the valley, orange blossoms and English ivy beaded with seed pearls and tied with satin streamers ending in love knots.

Centering the bouquet was a crystal rosary, given to the bride by her parents on the day of her First Communion.

Jana Brannon of Pascagoula was maid of honor, and other attendants were Mary Kay Kaplan and Amy Kaplan, sisters of the bride; Sonja Linton, cousin of the bride; Lisa Wall, cousin of the bridegroom, and Beth Graham, all of Pascagoula.

Attendant children were Magon Kaplan, niece of the bride and daughter of Mary Kay Kaplan of Pascagoula, flower girl, and Douglas Cole, son of of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Cole of Pascagoula, ring bearer.

A reception, directed by Mesdames Wall and Linton, followed at the Pascagoula Elks Club, where music was provided by Charlie C. Freeman. Guests were registered by Brenda Martin of Pascagoula, sister-in-law of the bridegroom.

Jail and Bail fund raiser offers limo ride

By NATALIE CHAMBERS
Mississippi Press Staff

Going to JAIL.

The thought is enough to provoke fear, boggle the mind and bring tears to one's eyes.

Earlier this month, some brave Jackson County women accepted their fate, but not before enjoying a last taste of freedom.

As participants in Jackson County's March of Dimes Jail and Bail, the women were given time in jail.

For some of the participants though, going to jail was the easy part. The mechanism used to inform participants of the verdict was the hard part.

March of Dimes officials had recorded cassette tapes delivered to potential participants' homes and businesses.

Using a Mission Impossible format, the tape relayed a message to participants that they were guilty of entering the male corporate world. They were given instructions on their arrest date and what needed to be done to gain an unconditional release.

The arrest date was Feb. 8 and releases were contingent upon the raising of $500 or more for the Executive Lock-up for Ladies Only fundraiser. Participants had two weeks to raise bail money.

Moss Point insurance owner Loretta Jennings said the approach scared her to no end.

"When I got the tape and started listening to it, I said for sure I needed an attorney because I simply couldn't get it together," she explained.

Ms. Jennings said it sounded so authentic that "I was waiting on the tape to disintegrate. It just blew my mind."

For the prisoners, their fun was just starting.

Beginning at 11 a.m., on the day of the 8th, four limosines from Troy Watson Luxury Limosines set out to round up the 14 prisoners and transport them to a makeshift jail at Marguerite's Italian Village on Ingalls Avenue.

Prisoners were Melody Bradley, Deirdre Janney, Sissy Shumate, Gaynell Martin, Ms. Jennings, Sandra Williams, Ollie Vice, Linda Edwards, Maxine Lawson, Pat Read, Debbie Haigler, Jane Martin, Melbaleen Lewis-Yeager and Paulette Smith.

Four undercover agents wer on duty to ride shotgun with the chauffeurs. They were Wesley Smith, Gerald Gerriga, Steve Novak and Dave Junkin.

At 11:10 a.m., a white stretch limo pulled in front of The Mississippi Press to pick up a reporter and photographer. The objective was to give the newshounds an opportunity to see first hand how prisoners would be treated that rainy day.

The limo's first official stop was at Hancock Travel Agency. The Subject: prisoner Ollie Vice.

She was ready.

Armed with her bag of loot, Ms. Vice paused long enough to wave good-bye to colleagues. With an encouraging look and arm from Chauffeur Watson and a warrant from agent Steve Novak, she entered the limo for the long ride ... to jail.

"My granddaughter was born with a birth defect and March of Dimes helped her." Mrs. Vice said. She said going to jail and raising money to get out, was her way to repay the non-profit orgnization.

With that, she leaned back on the cushiony leather seat and relaxed her legs on the plush, red carpeted floor.

Then apparently familarizing herself with the car's posh surroundings complete with television, chilled champagne and gold trim glasses, Ms. Vice, with a meek sigh said, "I could really get use to this."

At each pick-up, participants were issued arrest warrants that stated: "Whereas there is probably cause to believe that on or about Feb. 8, 1990, the defendant did illegally, voluntarily, feloniously, and tactlessly: Infiltrate male-dominated corporate America by assuming an executive position which rendered you powerful and responsible, and therefore capable of great social impact as a leader in the fight to prevent birth defects."

The second stop was Martin's Meat Market where prisoner Gaynell Martin was ready for transport.

Gleaming at the interior of the limo, she said to accompanying cell mates, "This is alright, I've been looking forward to this."

Ms. Martin's involvement with March of Dimes is because of Ellen Cole, a director of the Jail and Bail.

"My first thought was $500, that's a lot of money to beg for ... until you get it going." Then, she said, it starts falling in. Mrs. Martin utilized several money-making schemes to collect bond money, including hosting bingo games.

Sissy Shumate, office manager for Dr. Matthew Kuluz, was the third to get an arrest warrant. "I'm so excited," she said as friends and young patients peaked through the office window to get a glimpse of her arrest.

Co-worker Terry Lockland, apparently not fooled by such royal treatment for a prisoner, came to the door and said, "This isn't fair."

"Isn't this wonderful," said Ms. Vice during the last leg of the journey to incarceration.

At Marguerite's, Novak, an account executive for Waste Management, was more than ready to escort the prisoners to their cells.

Several prisoners had already been transported and were nervously awaiting their sentence by "Judge" Steve Dickerson, Magnolia Division chairman, who dressed out in an official robe of Chancery Judge Tommy Robertson.

HIGHEST BOND — Gaynell Martin, an owner of Martin's Meat and Seafood in Pascagoula, paid the most bond, because her offense was the"most serious."

Sitting in the far corner, anxiously awaiting her call, was prisoner Janney.

"It only took about three hours of phone calls and letter writing to raise the money," she said.

Her fund raising took place in the Wade, Hurley and Lucedale area. Prisoner Janney was complimented for smart thinking ... no competition.

Moss Point Prosecutor Maxine Lawson-Conway, whose job it is to send people to jail, had to drive herself there.

"I was in court when the limo pulled up and picked up another lady. Naturally, I was in court and couldn't leave," she said.

Smith, sharing a table temporarily with Conway before sentencing began, had extreme difficulty hiding emotions about the ride to jail.

She said she was very surprised to see the undercover agent pull up in a limo.

"I was excited. My first limo ride," she said.

Smith said she was was excited about the ride, being asked to help the needy and "about the two escorts picking me up at home."

Jailbird Jane Martin, already picked up for one charge and definitely dressed for the occasion, retrieved a (plastic) pistol from jail warden and server Debbie Cooper for one last hold-up spree before report time.

She had no luck, but was successful in getting a laugh.

JAILBIRD — "Judge" Steve Dickerson, director of the Magnolia Chapter of the March of Dimes, Gulfport, points a water gun taken from prisoner Jane Martin of Gautier. Mrs. Martin sports a black and white one-piece prison outfit worn for the occasion of the ladies' executive lockup held at Marguerite's Italian Village in Pascagoula.

Before bonding out, prisoners ate a hearty meal of stuffed chicken breast, fried zucchini, salad with house dressing and a bread pudding.

The benefit netted more than $8,500 for the March of Dimes, with more loot coming in from prisoners not able to attend the function.

Prisoner Gaynell Martin raised the most booty with $1,302.

For her efforts, not only was she given an unconditional and very gratuitious release, but a $1,300 diamond tennis bracelet to remind her of her day as a March of Dimes prisoner.

JAIL BAIL — Sissy Shumate, Pascagoula, holds the warrant for her arrest as she prepares to get into her limousine, part of the royal treatment given to the ladies involved in the executive lockup. Troy Watson holds the door for her.

Down's Syndrome patient realizes Pizza Hut dream

United Way Photo

PASCAGOULA RESIDENT, 32-year-old Carolyn Martin of Pascagoula suffers from Down's Syndrome. Through the help of Singing River Industries, the United Way of Jackson County, Pizza Hut, and others, Ms. Martin is a productive member of society.

Working at Pizza Hut has always been a dream of 32-year-old Carolyn Martin. That might not seem like an unusual dream for a bright and easy-going young lady.

But Ms. Martin, known as 'Be-Bop' to her friends and family, had a special challenge...she suffers from Down's Syndrome.

Despite this challenge, though, and through the help of Singing River Industries, the United Way of Jackson County, Pizza Hut, and countless others, Ms. Martin is a productive member of society. Her dream came true in July 1990 when she donned her uniform and reported to work at the U.S. 90 Pizza Hut in Pascagoula.

Evelyn Ford, the job coach who supervises Ms. Martin's Pizza Hut employment, praised her job performance. "She has been a real champ. She has reported to work every day with a good attitude and a willingness to learn. I admire her. She could feel sorry for herself, but she has chosen an alternate route...one that is not only benefitting herself but all those who work around her."

"Carolyn has become a well-trained, dependable employee," said Singing River Industries Employment Coordinator Nannette St. Pierre-Rogers. "In fact, she has done so well in handling job responsibilities that she will now begin training as a hostess.'

Ms. Martin has a philosophy of beginning each day with renewed energy and excitement about reporting to work.

Ms. Martin's family shares her joy because they can remember a time when people with developmental disabilities had few opportunities to experience the satisfaction of being gainfully employed.

Betty Martin says that although her daughter was born with Down's Syndrome, the family did not know of her condition until she was almost a year old. "The doctor told us we could keep her at home," Mrs. Martin said, "but it was unknown what level she would attain."

In early childhood, Ms. Martin attended a day care center in Pascagoula and was later enrolled in the Jackson County Exceptional School. She remained in the school until she was 19.

Her family then had to look for other placement alternatives to satisfy Ms. Martin's adult needs. Singing River Industries, a United Way of Jackson County Agency, provided the solution.

Singing River Industries, a division of Singing River Mental Health and Retardation Services, serves more than 60 clients through a sheltered workshop and a supported-work program, funded by United Way, which enables developmentally disabled people to become employed by community businesses.

This summer, Ms. Martin and her mother accepted roles in the United Way of Jackson County's campaign film and are becoming local celebrities as the film is shown throughout the county.

United Way volunteer Mark Sullivan, who leads campaign communication efforts, helped direct the filming of Ms. Martin's success story. "I wish everyone could have shared our experience in working with Carolyn. It made me even more aware of how much all of us can accomplish through our support to each year's United Way campaign. The United Way is helping provide a better quality of life for hundreds of people in our community — making dreams come true for people like Carolyn Martin."

Sawmill Explosion in Mississippi—Two Persons Killed and Five Wounded.

From the New-Orleans Picayune, July 27.

We are informed that on Friday evening last, 23d inst., the steam sawmill of Mr. VAN WAGNER, of Pascagoula, Miss., blew up with a tremendous explosion and very disastrous effect. The machinery was totally broken up and scattered in every direction, and several persons, four white and three black, were involved in the destruction. The engineer, JAMES MARTIN, and the fireman, WOODWARD, were fatally hurt, and died the following night. The rest, though badly scalded or wounded, may possibly recover. The most doubtful case is that of Mrs. COUNSEL, white, who happened to be passing about a hundred yards in front of the mill, when one of the boilers, lifted from its place and shot like an arrow, brushed her in its course with such violence as to hurl her to a distance aside, breaking her left arm and thigh bones near the upper joints, and the right arm near the wrist. This boiler, having cut down two trees as large as a schooner's mast, lodged against a large live oak tree, one hundred and fifty-five yards from the mill. The cause of the disaster is not understood, as all the managers were regularly on duty, and the engineer had stopped the running but a few minutes to fix the tackling of one of the bands. Altogether, it was a melancholy exhibition of the power of rabid steam.

Lt. Claude Martin Tells Of Life In German Prison

In an interesting letter to his mother, Mrs. C. W. Martin of Pascagoula, Lt. Claude C. Martin gives the first extensive story of how life goes as a German prisoner of war, that has been received in this locality.

In it Lt. Martin speaks of going ice skating after he had been taught how by a professional skater and adds. "Can't you picture me skating when the most ice I ever saw was in Mississippi at the Gautier Ice House. Winter is setting in, and the shorter days are getting cooler and we are having lots of rain."

Lt. Martin mentions football and baseball and says "Our theatre holds about 300 and we have to run in order to obtain seats. Many have to stand," so it seems that the men have some forms of amusement.

They also have church services for Lt. Martin says that he attends church faithfully every Sunday; that the minister is a good one, an English Methodist chaplain. He also says that the men have plenty of cigarettes, and that he has received two personal packages.

According to the writer there are eight men in his room and they cook their meals together. He promises his mother to cook her a cake and a pie when he gets home. But he adds that he much prefers her cookery.

The letter was written before Christmas and so Lt. Martin closes it by wishing his relatives and friends a merry Christmas and says, "I'll be with you the next time these holidays come."

Lt. Martin's wife and their baby, born August 7, 1944, are residing in McComb until he comes home.

Don Thompson And Gerald Gaffney Are Guests At Java Hour

Donald Thompson, radioman third class, of Lowell, Mass., who is based at the Naval Receiving Station in Pascagoula, and Gerald Gaffney who is stationed at the U.S. Coast Guard station in the same city, were honor birthday guests at Java Hour at the USO last Sunday. Among the birthday greetings that were received by the latter was one from his mother who resides in Florida.

The first of the honor guests is 18 and the second 19 years old.

The Servicemen's Wives club, under whose auspices Java Hour is held each Sunday, was pleasantly assisted by the Bayou Casotte Home Demonstration club the members of which served sandwiches, cake and coffee.

With Mrs. Larry Lindhart acting as master of ceremonies Palm Sunday was fittingly observed by the singing of "Faith of Our Fathers."

Other numbers in which those present also joined in singing were "America the Beautiful," "In the Garden," and "Let the Rest of the World Go By."

"The Palms" was beautifully sung by Mrs. J. L. Mitchell who was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. B. H. Pickett, pianist, who also accompanied Donald Thompson as he sang a song group consisting of "I Wish I Could Be With You on Easter Sunday,"

THE FIGHTING face of Adm. William F. MARTIN-WILSON

The engagement of Miss Martha Jean Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bernard Martin of New Orleans and Pascagoula, an attractive member of the younger set, to Mr. John Francis Wilson of Little Rock, Ark., son of Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Wilson of San Diego, California, was announced in the New Orleans Times-Picayune and Item-Tribune, Sunday, July 12. The wedding will be a prominent event of the autumn.

A very pretty picture of Miss Martin appeared on the front page of the society section of each paper.

The above announcement will be read with interest by many here as the Martin family at one time made Pascagoula their home and since moving to New Orleans have spent each summer here at their cottage on Beach Boulevard.

"Have you Heard?" column of the Times-Picayune, Sunday, July 12, carried the following reference:

"When Jean Martin was student body president of Newcomb college and John F. (Jack) Wilson of Little Rock, Ark., was student council president of Tulane University, the two used to cast shy glances at each other as they met in meetings. Jack came down on July 4 with a ring in his pocket. In the fall he will take Jean back to Little Rock as his bride. He is a rising young architect there. Jean is one of the two daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. Martin.

Husband charged in slaying

y MELISSA DAVIS
lississippi Press Staff

FRANKLIN CREEK — The body of an scatawpa woman shot late Saturday was found n a septic tank and her husband was arrested, fficials said today.

Crystal Martin, 25, was shot to death in a omestic dispute with her husband, Samuel Iartin, Sheriff Pete Pope said.

Investigators believe the slaying took place at amuel Martin's home at 8413 Little Bluff Road. fficials believe the slaying occurred between 8 nd 10 p.m.

Mrs. Martin's body was found in an abanoned septic tank behind the trailer where amuel Martin lived, Pope said. He said she ad been shot once in the head and once in the chest with a .12-gauge shotgun.

Chief Deputy Coroner Michael May said it appeared she was shot twice in the upper body. An autopsy is pending.

Samuel Martin

Pope said this was not the first time sheriff's deputies had been called to the couple's home. The two were apparently separated at the time of the shooting.

When sheriff's officers arrived, Samuel Martin told them Mrs. Martin came to his trailer to exchange gifts for their anniversary, which was Sunday.

He told investigators that Mrs. Martin heard someone beating on the back door. He said she told him to take their children and get them to safety.

Samuel Martin told officials that when he returned home, Mrs. Martin was missing and he found blood on the floor, Pope said.

But Pope said after officials questioned Martin further they found a number of inconsistencies in his statement.

"We have enough information and evidence at this time to charge him with murder," Pope said.

Mrs. Martin lived at 12209 Greens Ferry Road in Escatawpa.

Samuel Martin is being held in the Adult Detention Center without bond. He is expected to have an initial hearing later this week.

Jesse Reeder

THE MOBILE REGISTER.

Aged Mobile Visitor Tells of First Train

Jesse Reeder, ninety-seven years old, a man who, in his boyhood days viewed with wonder the first locomotive to rumble through the pine lands of South Carolina, and a man who has seen the making of the republic, is in Mobile, a guest of his son, Jesse H. Reeder, residing on Palmetto street.

Mr .Reeder, while ninety-seven years old in July, 1909, is still hale and hearty, in full possession of his faculties, converses freely and gets about fairly well. The only infirmity the weight of years seems to have affected him with is a slight stiffness in his ankles. He has a splendid pair of eyes, reading ordinary print without glasses, and his skin is absolutely without a wrinkle. His hair, it is true, is white, but that is the only indication one sees that would point to old age. His voice has a ring, and his intellect is sharp. He is a minister of the denomination of the Latter Day Saints. He explains clearly the difference between the Latter Day Saints and the Mormons, whom he charges with polygamy. He says that the Latter Day Saints, are the true followers of the lowly Nazarene and that the revelation made to a seventeen-year-old boy back in the thirties was the fulfilment of the prophesies.

Speaks of Boyhood Days.

Speaking of his boyhood days Mr. Reeder said:

"When I was but a lad I saw the first locomotive which actually ran on rails and carried passengers. It was an engine and caboose which ran from Charleston to Hamburg, South Carolina, the company being chartered in 1827. I was then fourteen years old and with my father and mother was traveling from my native state, South Carolina, to Barbour county, Alabama. We heard the new train was coming through and we got up early in the morning and sat by our wagons until daybreak to see it. It came through spitting fire from the little smokestack and rustling and jangling over the light rails of the time. It was a wonderful sight to me, then a mere lad. I did not then know the wonders I should be spared to see. I did not know then that it would be but a few years when a message might be tapped off at one station and be received in a few seconds at another miles and miles away; I did not dream of the electric telegraph, of electric lights or the automobile, let alone the wireless system.

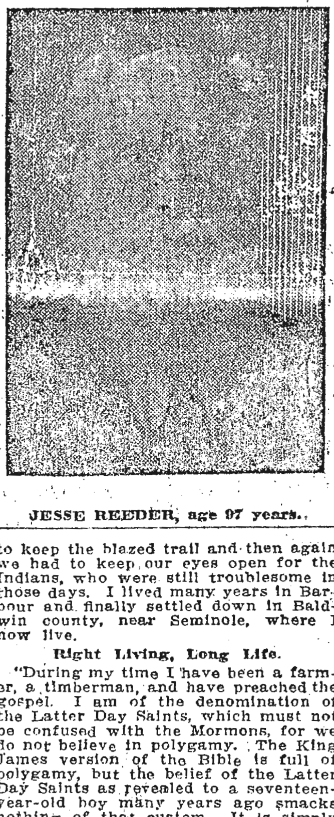
"I can remember many wonderful things during my boyhood days, among them the day when the stars fell from the heavens. I could not understand it, neither could those about me, and it seemed to some that the world was about to come to an end. The stars commenced to fall to the ground about 9 o'clock one night and it continued a veritable shower of fire until 11 o'clock the next morning. It, was a marvelous thing to me and I shall never forget it.

Lived During Big Wars.

'I lived during four big wars in which this country was engaged, the war of 1812, the Mexican war, the Civil war and the Spanish American war. Of course I passed through several Indian wars or campaigns. The massacre of Fort Mims made a profound impression on me although I was still young. We had no telegraph then and the story of the terrible occurrences at the fort were carried from Stockton by word of mouth, and I remember how every man was ready to shoulder his musket and fight.

"I did not engage in any of the great wars this country had, neither did I ever fight a duel. The nearest I ever came to that was when I would strip off and go into a bout, fist and skull, to subdue some bully who claimed he was the worst man in the county and had to be shown that no matter how bad 'a man is that another better man has been created.

"The trip overland from South Carolina to Alabama was a most eventful period in my life. I was but a lad and the hardships and privations of the trip are something never to be forgotten. We had to keep a close lookout to keep the blazed trail and then again we had to keep our eyes open for the Indians, who were still troublesome in those days. I lived many years in Barbour and finally settled down in Baldwin county, near Seminole, where I now live.



JESSE REEDER, age 97 years.

Right Living, Long Life.

"During my time I have been a farmer, a timberman, and have preached the gospel. I am of the denomination of the Latter Day Saints, which must not be confused with the Mormons, for we do not believe in polygamy. The King James version of the Bible is full of polygamy, but the belief of the Latter Day Saints as revealed to a seventeen-year-old boy many years ago smacks nothing of that custom. It is simply the following of the original teaching as laid down by Jesus Christ.

"I am a strong man yet, although I will be 98 years old in July. I attribute my long life to right living and plenty of outdoor exercise. I have withstood many hardships but it has not hurt me because I have lived right."

Mr. Reeder has fifty-eight grandchildren, fifty-seven great-grandchildren and thre great-great-grandchildren to cheer him in his declining years. He seems to know them all by name and to take great pride in them. His youngest son, whom he is visiting in Mobile, is fifty-one years old.

When he was taken to a studio to have his photograph taken he seemed well pleased, but regretted that he did not open his mouth that his relatives in Baldwin county could see in The Register before he got back home that he had succeeded in getting a new set of false teeth to fit him.

Last living widow of Civil War vet dies at age

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Alberta Martin, the last widow of a Civil War veteran, died Monday, ending an unlikely ascent from poor sharecropper's daughter to the belle of 21st century Confederate history buffs who paraded her across the South. She was 97.

Martin died at an Enterprise nursing home of complications from a heart attack she suffered May 7, said her caretaker, Dr. Kenneth Chancey. She died just as the nation was celebrating Memorial Day and nearly 140 years after the Civil War ended.

Her May-December marriage to a Civil War veteran in the 1920s and her longevity made her a celebrated final link to the old Confederacy.

After living in obscurity and poverty for most of her life, she spent her final years with the Sons of Confederate Veterans carrying her to conventions and rallies, often with a small Confederate battle flag waving in her hand and her clothes the colors of the rebel banner.

"I don't see nothing wrong with the flag flying," she said frequently.

Gertrude Janeway, the last widow of a Union veteran from the Civil War, died in January 2003 at her home in Tennessee.

She was 93 and had married veteran John Janeway when she was 18.

Wayne Flynt, a Southern history expert at Auburn University, said the historical distinctiveness of the South, which is so tied to the Civil War, has been disappearing, but Martin provided people with one last chance to see that history in real life.

"She became a symbol like the Confederate battle flag," he said.

In 1997, Mrs. Martin and Daisy Anderson, whose husband was a slave who ran away and joined the Union Army, were recognized at a special ceremony at Gettysburg, Pa. Mrs. Anderson, who lived in Denver, died in 1998 at age 97. Mrs. Janeway wasn't invited to the Gettysburg event since at the time, no one outside her family knew her whereabouts.

south of Montgomery.

Her mother died when she was 11, and her widowed father eventually moved to Tallassee in central Alabama. At 18, she met a cab driver named Howard Farrow, and they had a son before Farrow died in a car accident in 1926.

Stewart, her father and her son soon moved to Opp to stay with relatives. Just up the road lived William Jasper Martin, a widower born in Macon County, Ga., in 1845. He enjoyed a $50-a-month Confederate veteran's pension and was looking to get remarried.

The cantankerous 81-year-old man struck up a few conversations with the 21-year-old neighbor and a marriage of convenience was born.

"I had this little boy and I needed some help to raise him," Alberta Martin recalled in a 1998 interview.

When asked if she loved her husband, Martin said, "That's a hard question to answer. I cared enough about him to live with him. You know the difference between a young man and an old man."

William Jasper Martin died on July 8, 1931. Two months later, Alberta Martin married her late husband's grandson, Charlie Martin. He died in 1983 and is buried at New Ebenezer Baptist Church six miles west of Elba, where the family had its home.

Under arrangements made years in advance and paid for by Civil War groups, Alberta Martin is to be interred at the church in an 1860s-style ceremony, following a funeral at 1 p.m. June 12 at First Assembly of God Church in Elba.
